Health Bill Passed in Senate

Measure Given Chance of Passage

(P)—A bipartisan vote on a Social Security health care insurance plan was in 1960 when Social Security was defeated 51-44, with only one Republican supporting it.

The Senate is to begin debating the issue—one of the most important of the 1962 session—on Monday.

Anderson's proposal will be offered as an amendment to a House-passed public welfare bill.

Optional Feature

Anderson, who has been carrying the ball in the Senate for the President on the explosive health care issue, won his Republican majority.

Enthusiastic Support Given Paid Television

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Television for a fee but without commercials met with an enthusiastic reception in the Hartford area.

Viewers paid $1 to see two movies without interruptions in the nation's first large-scale test of pay-television Friday night. The consensus was it was worth it.

Neither film had been shown before on television in this area.

"I've been agitating for it for years," said G. Harry Davis of nearby Avon. Davis, an executive of the Dictaphone Corp., said he applied to be among the initial 200 subscribers as soon as he heard that the test would be run by WHCT, an ultrahigh frequency television station here.

Scrambled Signal

Friday night's program consisted of "Sunrise at Campobello," a dramatization of an episode in the life of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt; and Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," performed by a Czechoslovakian puppet company.

The films were telecast via a scrambled signal. Subscribers had to dial a code number to activate their decoders and unscramble the picture and the sound.

People without decoders who tuned in received pictures in which the figures were still discernible but resembled reflections in a rippled pond. Instead of dialogue, they heard only a high metallic screech.

The Hartford test, scheduled to run for three years, is backed by Zenith Radio Corp., manufacturer of the decoders, and RKO General Inc., owner of WHCT-TV. They have $10 million invested in the venture.

5 Lose Lives In 3 Crashes On Highways

Total Traffic Toll 6 More Than Listed Year Ago Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three crashes killed a total of five persons in Wisconsin early today, boosting the Wisconsin highway fatality toll for the year to 403, compared with 397 at this time a year ago.

Omer Whelstone, 46, and Carl Picking, 45, both of Mishawaka, Ind., were killed at 3:20 a.m. today when their car and another auto collided head-on eight miles southeast of Mauston on Highway 12 and 16. John Doerner, also of Mishawaka, and the driver of the other car, Edward Bochn of Lyndon Station, were taken to a Mauston hospital in critical condition.

3-Car Crash

A spectacular three-car crash took the life of 18-year-old Todd Hay of Racine early today. Racine County Deputy Sheriff Lowell Krause said the auto Hay was driving collided with one going in the same direction on Highway 31 in southern Racine County and then collided with an oncoming auto.

The Hay car went off the road, hit a culvert, flew into the air and landed virtually inside a plumber's pickup truck which was parked in a driveway. Barbara Rush, 16, of Racine, one of three young passengers in the Hay car, was hospitalized in critical condition.

Miles Fullmer, 37, of Baraboo, was killed early today when the sports car he was driving overturned on Highway 12 about two miles north of Middleton.

Discuss Political, Economic Threats; Crowd of 1,500,000 Cheers American President

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy, heartened by the mightiest public tribute ever paid him in a foreign capital, resumes probing talks today with Mexico's leaders on how to fortify the Americas against ominous political and economic threats.

The President, his reception here regarded generally as an enormous personal triumph, apparently is laying his cards on the table in frank conversations with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

There is every indication that the subject of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime and its alliance with communism came up in their first round of talks Friday.

Crowd of 1,500,000

The enthusiastic public outpouring to greet the President—officials estimated a million and a half Mexicans massed to cheer him—could strengthen Kennedy's hand in his search for common ground with the Mexican government on the mass of political, economic and social problems plaguing turbulent and restless Latin America.

The impact of the visit was not confined to this capital of 5½ million. Reports from around the nation of 36 million indicated that radio and television coverage of the spectacular first day of the visit was followed avidly in Mexican cities, towns and hamlets.

U.S. Judge Sets Hearing on Fate Of Railroad Line

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal judge Friday set July 30 for hearing motions for a three-judge court to hear a suit to halt abandonment of the North Shore Line.

The line, operating electric train service between Milwaukee and Chicago, was to have shut down June 22 as unprofitable. The Interstate Commerce Commission, which authorized the shutdown, delayed the date indefinitely.

Judge James B. Parsons of U.S. District Court said in view of the ICC postponement, the three-judge court hearing also could be delayed.

The injunction suit was brought by the North Shore Commuters Association and joined in by the State of Illinois. It contends the Interstate Commerce Commission lacks jurisdiction over an interurban rail service.

Ousted Official Faces Further Quiz on Estes

House Group to Seek More Data on Link With Texan

WASHINGTON (AP)—William E. Morris, ousted Agriculture Department official, faced more questioning behind closed doors today about his friendship and dealings with Billie Sol Estes.

Morris' recall by a House Government Operations subcommittee shifted the spotlight from recessed Senate public hearings on the Estes case marked Friday by peppy exchanges between Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and his questioners.

Freeman denied Republican senators' charges that Estes had received favored treatment from the department and that Freeman's administration had been slow to crack down on Estes' get-rich-quick schemes under farm aid programs.

Testimony Secret

The House subcommittee headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., kept its questioning of Morris a mystery.

The subcommittee refused to give any hint about the nature of Morris' testimony at a closed session Friday.

James Naughton, subcommittee counsel, also declined to say whether transcripts of Morris' testimony would be made public, or whether Morris would testify at a public hearing.

Freeman fired Morris last April 16 for refusing to answer questions about his relationships with Estes.

Morris had been an assistant to former Asst. Secretary of Agriculture James T. Ralph, also fired because of his connections with the gift-giving Texas promoter.

Algeria Ready For Ballot on Independence

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's Moslems prepared today to crown their bloody 7½-year struggle against France with a sweeping approval of independence in Sunday's referendum. Even Secret Army Organization leaders urged Europeans to vote "yes."

Six million Algerian voters will go to an estimated 6,500 polling places to answer just one question: "Do you want Algeria to become an independent state in cooperation with France?" Some predicted the "yes" vote might be as high as 99 per cent.

Approval Certain

Triumphant Moslems chanted nationalist slogans and plastered walls with posters throughout Algeria in a campaign to get out the vote. Moslem nationalist agents in distant villages organized owners of trucks and ramshackle cars into motor pools to transport voters to the polls.

"Everything is prepared," Moslems assured visitors to the Casbah. "Everybody will vote. Every house will become a polling station if necessary."

Despite the excitement, the balloting will be something of an anticlimax. The Moslems have known for some time that nothing can halt their country's emancipation from French rule. Independence was won in a long, bitter battle that cost the lives of nearly 28,000 French soldiers and more than 140,000 Moslems.

U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Reuther Urge Reduction as Spur to National Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's cash registers clang shut at midnight tonight on a fiscal year that produced a budget deficit estimated at $7 billion. The outlook for fiscal 1963: another deficit, probably of $4 billion or more.

The government's money men marked the bookkeeping new year amid a chorus of new demands—from labor, businessmen and the floor of the Senate—for immediate tax cuts to bolster the economy.

Walter Reuther urged Friday night a $10-billion income tax cut, effective Aug. 1 and aimed primarily at the lower and middle-income brackets. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said in Detroit such a slash would boost the economy and avoid worsening unemployment.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce called Friday for immediate cuts of $5.5 billion to $7.5 billion—with the emphasis on top personal income tax brackets.

Tax Reduction Urged

Two Democratic senators urged a prompt tax reduction. And Republican congressional leaders said any tax slice should be coupled with a cut in government spending.

Leading college and university economists were reported to have warned administration officials a recession is likely unless taxes are cut soon. More than 20 of them were reported to have met privately with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and members of the President's Council of Economic Advisers Wednesday and Thursday.

President Kennedy has promised to seek an across-the-board tax reduction effective next Jan. 1. Kennedy also has said administration experts are keeping close watch on economic developments and will recommend a cut sooner if this is deemed necessary.

Revenue and Spending

When an official account of government finances in fiscal 1962 becomes available, probably late next month, it is expected to show spending of $88 billion and revenues of $81 billion. That would make the deficit the second biggest in peacetime history.

Kennedy had hoped to post a $500-million surplus during the new budget year. But administration officials say that's out of the question now. Some welcome another deficit, saying it will boost the economic advance which so far has fallen short of administration goals.

Six months ago, Kennedy sent Congress a $92.5-billion budget for LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill awakened today from a sound, strength-building sleep following an operation in which surgeons pinned together his fractured left thigh.

He began this bright summer day with an austere breakfast consisting only of a cup of coffee, diluted with cold milk.

Physicians are counting on Churchill to retain the strong recuperative powers which have carried him through a long, active and often dangerous life.

If all goes well, the 87-year-old former prime minister will be in Middlesex Hospital about two weeks and should be walking again within a month after his release.

Ike Offers GOP Plan for Unity

Party Leaders in Congress Wait for Further Details

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—GOP officials from throughout the country rally around former President Dwight D. Eisenhower today to form an all-Republican conference.

But the party's congressional leaders waited to see the plan unveiled and working before buying in.

National Chairman William E. Miller billed the circus tent meeting at Eisenhower's farm as one aimed at demonstrating that Republicans can provide the new leadership he said the nation needs.

While they had no quarrel with this concept, the party's Senate and House chieftains said they did not know how the proposed conference would operate. Nor would they try to estimate the influence it might have on the Republican congressional policies the leaders have assumed responsibility for making.

Against Outside Interference

Miller has said the new group would not pass on issues before Congress but would interpret state, national and international trends, giving Republicans out of Congress a forum.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference in Washington Friday that "all I know about this is what I see in the papers."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana made it rather apparent the congressional quarterbacks would not relish having any group outside of Congress interfere in their signal calling.

"We can use all of the help we can get," he said. "We'll be glad to have it. But I think we've been doing all right."

backing largely because he agreed to write in an optional feature covering private health insurance policies.

Thus, a person reaching 65 could elect to have his benefits handled by the Social Security Administration; but he also could elect to continue with a private insurance plan if it gave him at least the same benefits as the basic Social Security package. If he took the option and needed hospitalization or other services, the Social Security Administration would reimburse his company for the cost of the payments, plus administrative costs.

Key Provisions

Other key points of the compromise:

1. It would be financed by an increase in Social Security payroll taxes.

2. Its benefits are identical to those in the administration bill—hospitalization, nursing home care, home health services and outpatient hospital diagnostic services.

3. The estimated 2.5-million people not covered by Social Security would be given the benefits of the program along with the 15 million expected to be under Social Security or the Railroad Retirement Act by 1964 when the plan would take effect.

Both those under Social Security and those outside it would get the benefits as a matter of right, with no test for financial need.

Other concessions made by Anderson in his long negotiations with the Republicans were provisions that would put the Social Security taxes to finance the program in a special trust fund and to give a role to the states in administering the plan.

Republican senators cosponsoring the plan were Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, Thomas H. Kuchel of California, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, the lone GOP senator who voted for the 1960 version.

Formula for School Aids Under Attack at Educators' Meeting

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin's formula for distributing school aids was thoroughly roasted Friday, and educators were told they had better start looking for new sources of revenue.

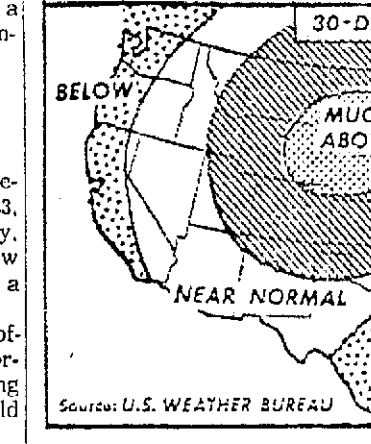

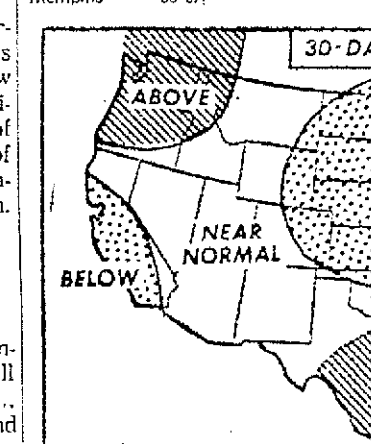

The present method of sharing state taxes and state school aids was called "the most terrible, uneconomic use of resources of any state in the union" by Howard Koop, financial adviser to Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

Koop told the Institute for School Administrators at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee that the formula should be framed to include other possible sources of income—for example, consideration of per capita income in a school district before the state decided how much money to give that district.

William C. Kahl, assistant state superintendent of schools for financial aids, said school costs per pupil in seven southeastern Wisconsin counties would rise from about $400 in the 1960-61 term to about $520 in 1965-66. That does not include capital outlay, debt retirement or transportation, he said. Kahl estimated that in those counties, enrollment in the same span would rise from 245,000 to 300,000.

The Peiping press, however, emphasized what it called Kennedy's intimidating tone and reports of the departure of several U.S. warships from Japan for the Formosa Strait "at the very time the Chiang Kai-shek gang is feverishly preparing to invade the mainland."

Reds Fire Artillery

Marshal Chu Teh, creator of the Red army and one of Red China's top four leaders, warned Friday night that "the entire armed forces and people of our country are keeping a close watch on the enemy's moves. Any military adventure of the enemy is sure to meet with complete failure."

As Chu Teh spoke, Communist troops in Fukien Province opposite Quemoy were engaged in their biggest artillery practice since the Reds won the mainland from the Nationalists in 1949. The Nationalist Defense Ministry in reporting the firing said no shells fell on Quemoy.

Top Nationalist Chinese military leaders were convinced, however, that the much publicized Red buildup opposite Quemoy and Matsu is only part of a major redeployment of Communist forces from north China to south and central China.

AP correspondent Forrest Ed. wards reported from Taipei that these military leaders base their belief on two main reasons:

(1) The center of Asian unrest has shifted from Korea and Japan to Southeast Asia and deployment to the south puts the Reds in position closer to troubled Laos and war-torn Viet Nam;

(2) The shift moves thousands of additional ground troops into fiscal 1963. He forecast revenues of $93 billion.

But developments since indicate that revenues will fall short of that figure, probably totaling about $88 billion.

New Deficit Expected

Among the factors that point toward another deficit are: —A lagging economy, likely to produce a gross national product of about $560 billion during the new fiscal year. That is $10 billion under the administration's original forecast, and would yield about $2.5 billion less in revenues.

—The tax cut due to be proposed by Kennedy himself. The President has not said how much of a cut he will seek.

—Liberalized depreciation allowances for business equipment, plus an administration proposal for tax credits for manufacturers who invest in new equipment.

These could slice $1.25 billion from the government's income.

Greater Spending

—A likely hike in spending over the level originally recommended by the President.

The chamber admitted its proposal would add to the anticipated budget deficit. But President H. Ladd Plumley said chamber officials are convinced the best hope "for future balanced budgets and fiscal sanity lies in removing immediately these tax rate deterrents to economic growth."

The chamber proposed a cut from 91 to 65 per cent in top bracket income taxes and, in effect, a 17½ per cent rate for taxpayers now billed the minimum 20 per cent. There would be proportionate reductions in other tax brackets, and a 5 per cent cut, to 47 per cent, in the corporate tax rate.

Would Act Quickly

In the Senate, Asst. Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota renewed his call for a prompt tax cut, and said he sees no reason to wait until next year.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said "If we are going to have a tax reduction the time to have it is now." Smathers serves on the Senate Finance Committee.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said any tax reduction should be accompanied by a cut in government spending "so we don't blow an atomic hole in our budget."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House GOP leader, agreed and added Republicans "have proved we are for tax cuts when they can be made within the framework of fiscal responsibility."

'God's Grace at Work' Ministers Attend Catholic Mass In Daring Inter-Faith Experiment

BY JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

In a small chapel near Albany, N.Y., a few weeks ago a Catholic priest stood at a special altar which had been set up so he could celebrate Mass facing the congregation, just the reverse of the customary arrangement.

The idea originated last August when Dr. Adams discussed the possibility with The Rev. Philip B. Carroll, S. J., director of the retreat house.

Some sat in respectful silence; most knelt and, according to one of the ministers, seemed to be following the priest's suggestion that the ceremony be regarded as common worship. To help make it so, a Protestant minister read aloud the English translations of the Latin Mass prayers.

Interfaith Dialog

This was the opening exercise each morning in a three-day experiment which some would consider a daring venture in interfaith dialogue: A period of prayer and conversation conducted at the Glenmont Jesuit Retreat House for Protestant and Eastern Orthodox ministers.

All who took part agreed the experiment was a success. In fact, some similar endeavors are planned for the future, perhaps as often as four times a year.

"There was no one involved in the retreat," said the Rev. Dr. Carlyle Adams, Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of Albany, "who did not believe that God's grace was at work and that whatever hopes any of us had placed in it had been realized far beyond our most sanguine expectations."

Wide Representation

Leader of the retreat was The Rev. Gustave Weigel, S. J., professor of ecclesiology at Woodstock College, Md., and a consultant to the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The ministers who attended represented the American Baptist Convention, the United Church of Christ, the Protestant Episcopal Church, United Lutheran Church in America, Missouri Synod Lutheran Church, Methodist Church, United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., Reformed Church in America and the Greek and Syrian Orthodox Churches.

Each evening the clergymen assembled in the chapel and a Protestant minister led them in prayer—using selections from the writings of St. Augustine, St. Thomas More, St. Ignatius Loyola and St. Clement of Rome.

Every Jew has the legal right to settle in Israel, but the government has the right to expel undesirable. Interior Minister Y. C. Shapiro has authority to deport persons with criminal records. # 7,500 Troops Could Return This Summer

Withdrawal Would Be First Since Buildup Last Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States probably will withdraw about 7,500 Army troops from Europe this summer, informed sources said today.

This would be the first reduction of U.S. strength there since the Berlin crisis military buildup last fall.

The men to be pulled back would be support troops—quartermaster, signal, ordnance and the like.

Thus, there would be no weakening of U.S. combat-type forces, arrayed mostly in Germany. At the height of the Berlin crisis, when Russia was threatening to force a decision on control of the divided German city, the United States sent 40,000 support troops to reinforce the 7th Army in Germany.

It was understood the 7,500 men to be brought home would come out of that 40,000.

Admits Berlin Settlement
Sources indicated the home-ward movement of these men, in some 40 units, might start next month and continue into September.

At his news conference last Wednesday, President Kennedy said: "I would hope that we could withdraw or lessen the number of forces at some time but certainly not under present conditions until we get a clear indication of what the future is going to be in Berlin."

Pentagon sources said Kennedy meant that this country did not contemplate trimming its combat forces in Europe.

Civilians would be expected to take over much of the supply and logistical work now handled by returning troops.

A major factor was understood this country's credit as a result to be an administration desire to reduce dollar spending in Europe. The United States now has Native civilians working for the about 272,000 men on station in U.S. armed forces there are paid Europe. About 137,000 are fighting in local currency, chiefly out of ing troops, the remaining 135,000 counterpart funds deposited to are in support.

Your Problems

Daughter-in-Law Eligible for Greetings With Centenarian

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Steady there, Girl. Don't let the ornery critters throw ya'. Remember the senior citizen who accused you of not liking old people? She said she was over 70 and just loved living with her son and daughter-in-law. Well, that's ducky — but the central point is do they just love having her?

Landers

I never cease to be amazed at all the fanfare in the newspapers when a parent lives to celebrate his 100th birthday. The President of the United States sends a telegram, the governor sends greetings, and there's usually a five-layer cake. And then, the last line of the newspaper report goes something like this: "Mrs. Hawthintosh has made her home with her daughter-in-law for the last 40 years."

I say the President should send the telegram to the daughter-in-law — especially if those last 40 years have been happy ones for the lady who has reached 100.

— Added Word

DEAR ADDED WORD: And now may I add a word? Amen!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17, mixed up, in love and desperate. The fellow is 18, handsome, swell build, plays the guitar and has the dreamiest eyes I've ever seen.

I need an honest answer so I'll give you the straight facts. I lost my head over this guy completely and now there's no turning back. He never takes me out on a real date, like to a movie or a dance or party. He is interested in only one thing.

Please don't lecture me. I'm a girl who listens to her heart instead of her head. If you could see him you'd understand. He's a combination of Sal Minoo and Cary Grant and he talks like Adlai Stevenson. Please don't tell me to stop seeing him. It's impossible.

— Sandbagged

DEAR SANDBAGGED: I have no advice for a girl who says she listens to her heart instead of her head. The only approach to problems I know is through the head.

I can only tell you how these affairs usually wind up. The fellow will drop you when he gets bored and you have nothing more to give. You'll be ashamed and heartbroken. If you think you're Sandbagged now, Sister — just wait.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married at 18. We had three children in five years. It seems I was always pregnant, or suffering from nervous exhaustion.

When the children were a little older I began to pay more attention to my husband but by that time it was too late.

Five months ago he told me he was in love with another woman and he wanted time to "think things over." I told him to think things over some place else. I let him know he could come see the children whenever he wished. He packed his clothes and moved to a hotel.

Six weeks later he started to come to the house every night. He's been wonderful to the children and very sweet to me. I know he'd like to come back home but he's ashamed to ask. It's apparent he's had enough of the other

Lose at Right Time

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you have to leave the shop untended, pick a time when there's nothing in the cash register. Don't wait until you've got the week's receipts in the till.

INSERT 1 COL MAT

Take this situation. West leads the king of hearts. Should you win the trick at once, or should you let West win the first heart trick?

You surely have to lose a heart trick sooner or later. If you lose it at once, the opponents can do no harm. If you wait until later, they may be able to do some damage.

See how the play goes if you refuse the first trick. West continues with a heart to the ace, as good a defense as any. You draw two rounds of trumps, discarding the bad news.

Take Top Clubs

You next take the ace and king of clubs and lead dummy's low club toward your hand. East cannot gain by ruffing, for you would play your low club on this trick. Then you would win any return.

draw East's last trump and give up just one diamond.

If East discards, you win with the queen of clubs and ruff your last club with dummy's last trump. East can over-ruff, but only at the expense of his sure trump trick.

Whether East ruffs the third club or discards you are safe. Now see what would happen if you won the first trick with the ace of hearts. You would draw two rounds of trumps and start the clubs. But East would ruff the third club and put his partner in with a heart to get another club ruff.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player bids two spades (a pre-emptive jump). You hold: S 8; H K Q J 6 5; D K 8 4; C 10 9 6 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four hearts. You would have to bid three hearts with a far weaker hand, and your partner would make allowance for a raise under pressure. You must go to game to show that your raise is voluntary, not under pressure.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

(AP Newsfeatures)

"Faith of our fathers, holy faith! We will be true to thee till death."

These Words of the Great Hymn can very well be the slogan for our celebration of the birthday of the United States of America.

The signers of the Declaration of Independence had that faith as attested to in the last lines of the Declaration "... with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

The founding fathers considered Independence Day a great occasion for rejoicing. John Adams said, "It ought to be commemorated as a day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty."

The 100th Veto

The Soviet Union's veto of a resolution introduced by Ireland, requesting talks between Pakistan and India concerning the Kashmir, represents another successful effort of the USSR to use the machinery of the United Nations for its own purposes. United States Ambassador Adlai Stevenson managed to get the floor to recount the disgusting history of Russian vetoes but it made no difference in the Russian vote.

The resolution was mild enough about a problem that is difficult to solve in any case. It merely suggested the negotiations between the two countries with a possible plebescite in the Kashmir and offered the services of Sec. Gen. U Thant to help. But India was wroth. Claiming that Pakistan was the aggressor, India's behind-the-scenes activities managed to withdraw sponsorship of the resolution by several countries. In the Security Council vote, however, there were only two abstentions, while the only dissenting votes were cast by the Soviet Union and its Rumanian satellite.

Krishna Menon was quite mild in his denunciation of the resolution. He could leave the wild charges to Platon Morozon, the Soviet delegate, who insisted that it all was a United States plot of some kind with "a very bad smell."

The Soviet Union wants to keep up the bad blood between Pakistan and India. It wants to impress Pakistan with its power. It wants to encourage India to buy Russian jets and import Russian technicians and advisors. The more conflict almost anywhere in the world, the better it is to the liking of the Soviet Union. India, by accepting the assistance of Russia, has contributed to the prostitution of the aims of the UN Charter.

Nonsense in Laos

The latest nonsense in Laos should come as a surprise to no one.

When the new government was set up as a coalition affair, with major representation of the Communists, pro-Western and neutralist elements, a specification was that unification of the armed forces and other dissident elements must be accomplished before any general election was held to replace the coalition affair. The moves toward unification are going slowly.

A meeting was held to discuss how best to get the military forces, in the habit of fighting each other, together in one unit. No answer was reached. A delegation, mostly of neutralists, was appointed to go to Geneva sometime next month presumably, although a date was not set, to sign the fourteen-nation accord guaranteeing the neutrality of Laos. Ceremonies were held rather restrainedly acclaiming the new premier and deputy premiers.

Then the Premier, neutralist Souvanna Phouma, took off for Europe. He had to witness his daughter's wedding in Paris and had some other business. He left his half brother, the Communist Sophana-

Just Pick Up the Phone

Fast communications are in such wide use that millions of people around the world are almost instantly aware of important happenings everywhere. The people in America are especially blessed with good communication facilities. The big news event in practically any well-settled area of the United States is made known immediately to most other areas by television, radio or telephone. Pictures, charts and stories are transmitted quickly from the scene of the important happening to the newspaper offices across the country and thus can be published with speed never known before.

Now, with direct distance dialing available in Wisconsin, new use is being made of the telephone for communications between persons and businesses. It is pleasing therefore, to note that the Wisconsin Telephone Co. is encouraging the use of the telephone by an important reduction in rates. People who use the telephone frequently have noticed that cost per call within the state of Wisconsin often times has been more than the cost for calls extending across the state, and into interstate commerce. The new rates will encourage

In his speech, Mr. Stevenson pointed out how successful Russia has been in making impotent the Security Council. "For fifteen years the USSR on occasion after occasion has sought to obstruct the operations of the Council, sometimes where Soviet plans and prestige were directly and clearly involved and at other times when the continuation of friction might contribute to Soviet objectives. . . . Fifty-one of those vetoes were cast on application of membership in the United Nations. Ireland . . . was denied membership for nine years. So were Jordan and Portugal. Austria, Finland and Italy were kept out for eight years. Ceylon was kept out for seven years, Nepal for six years. Mauretania was vetoed in 1960 and Kuwait in 1961. Korea still is not a member. . . . The Soviet delegate used the veto 13 times to assist Soviet bloc activities against the territorial integrity and the political independence of other states. . . . One of the most disturbing facts also revealed in the history of the 100 vetoes is the consistent effort to prevent the Security Council from developing processes of peaceful settlement."

Ambassador Stevenson cited the agreement in the Charter piously signed by the Soviet Union, stating that "it is not to be assumed . . . that the permanent members, any more than the non-permanent members, would use their veto willfully to obstruct the operation of the council."

Whatever case India has for ruling the Kashmir—and it does have a case—its acceptance of the means of the Russian veto to avoid a settlement is also an acceptance of the philosophy that the United Nations should be used by members to further their own aims whatever the damage to the rest of the world.

phong, in charge. Souphanaphong isn't supposed to be able to get away with much since his actions are subject to veto by the pro-Western deputy premier, Phouma Nosavan. But the speeches are beginning to be heard.

The minister of information, who happens to be a member of the Communist Pathet Lao, blasted immediately at the United States. The troops sent to Thailand last month when it appeared that the Pathet Lao might invade "threaten the peace and neutrality of Laos," rumbled Phoumi Vongvichit. "The government of national union protests against the American troop landings in Thailand." The government, it seems, means the pro-Red faction. The premier, on his way to Europe, didn't even know about the accusation. Reportedly Souvanna Phoumi was unperturbed by the American landings. Presumably he will be equally unperturbed by the Pathet Lao charges.

A cease fire has been declared in Laos. But guess who will be throwing all sorts of sand into the machinery of re-unification to ensure that there won't be a general election unless the Communists are bound to win?

the use of the telephone during the hours after 6 p.m., when there are fewer business calls and therefore time to spare on the telephone facilities. Under the new rates, a three-minute call to the farthest point in Wisconsin after 6 p.m. will have a maximum charge of 75 cents plus tax. After 9 p.m. the family plan call to any point in the state may extend for ten minutes at the maximum charge of 75 cents. After 9 p.m. a three-minute talk from Appleton to any point in the state will cost only 45 cents.

Thus it will be noted that three-minute calls after nine o'clock can be made for only a little more than the cost of sending a special delivery letter.

It is interesting to note the new, cheaper service is better and faster than was available only a short time ago. Reports are that the average long distance call is completed today in just over one minute. Back in the 1920s it required 14 minutes to complete the average call. Thus the improvement in the telephone facilities completed at great expense now is serving the company's customers better and faster and for less cost.

From The Green Bay Catholic Register

The perennial struggle between liberals and conservatives really has a lot more by way of religious overtones than it seems many people realize. It is easy for both sides to quote encyclicals, government documents, and political philosophers. And surely this has some value.

But in the ultimate analysis the whole problem resolves itself to a question as to which general theory better fits the existing realities of today and provides the required answers. Both liberals and conservatives, it seems to us, are not in favor of a vastly expanding government, especially if that expansion is unnecessary. Both are devoted to the preservation of freedom, although each seems to be a bit selfish here in showing chief concern for just those freedoms that are most beneficial to the liberals or the conservatives as the case may be.

As far as the expansion of government is concerned, and for our purposes here, this is the key point at issue. The liberals are correct in their apparent desire for a so-called welfare state if religion and the churches have failed to give Christianity the impact in society it ought to have. The conservatives are correct in calling for a sharp curtailment of government if Christianity, especially in its has failed in its task of influencing the lives of both individuals and communities.

Because this is the crux of the problem, this is where we must become more real in our approach. Reading the theories on both sides will not help.

We are afraid of the advance of government benefits and the resultant dulling of the personal sense of responsibility that can alone be the solid foundation for a strong society; but we are also quite well convinced that Christians and the churches that proclaim it have failed in giving the widespread impact to their teachings of charity that they ought to be giving. As a consequence, there are still too many of the "least of the brethren" that are sloughed off by families, communities, and even professional social agencies as if they were a burden to be gotten rid of rather than an obligation to bear for love of Christ.

There is also the continued exploitation of these people that is a badge of shame for just about every community. Thus it is not hard to find businesses in every city where the very minimum of wages is paid to employees. These firms always end up with those people who are most limited in the talents that they have received from the Creator. They spend their lives in a drudgery that few of us could bear and for a remuneration that none of us could subsist on. They are attacked in large headlines in the public press when finally out of sheer frustration they seek too great an escape in the only pleasures they have been allowed to come to know: sex and drink. The righteous community that knows them only as "the dirty people on the other side of the track" turns up its nose further and nothing is done. Nothing is done because there are other important issues at hand, such as arranging for the air-conditioning of the country club so after-game drinks can be consumed in comfort.

Then there are the aged people who are cast off from their families like old clothes. Fathers and mothers who managed through depression years to raise large families, many times at a cost to themselves that no one can fully toll, cannot now be cared for by their own children who are making four and five times what these venerable old people made in their best years.

These are the people eagerly consigned to county hospitals in all too many cases. County hospitals have a needed function to fulfill in caring for the old and the young who require this kind of confinement. But they are not old folks homes and should not be allowed to become such. We have nothing but words of highest praise for the superintendent of the Outagamie County hospital who recently said that he is running his institution to be "a little more than a temporary mass coffin for patients consigned there." This may cost a little more money, but this is what government must be used for, if it has any full valid use at all. This must be liberalism of a variety that is shocking to many a dedicated conservative. But if the churches cannot teach the commandments and the beatitudes well enough, and if the prime units in society, the families, will not accept their responsibilities on a wide scale, then government can and must intervene.

Medicare for the aged might be a theoretically evil thing. But if practical flesh-and-blood wrongs exist in families and communities all over this nation, and if individuals and families and cities and counties are not ready to abolish some even if it involves something we might call charity, then the Federal government must step in.

This question and the other questions like it are not questions that can be solved with theories; these are solved with some digging down into personal pocket-books and wallets. Those are solved by giving some time to the care of those who need it. And both the pocketbook and the time must be given freely, even to the price of sacrifice.

If enough people are not ready to do just this when it comes to caring for the aged, for the less-abled and for the many socially and economically underdeveloped people in our land,

Looking Backward

Battle of Richmond, First Day

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 5, 1862.

On the second day at Richmond (June 27), the cannonading and musketry were terrific. Duryea's gallant Zouaves were lying upon the ground for two hours while our batteries were shelling the woods over them.

Finally, towards nightfall, the enemy attempted to break the center line in front of Duryea's Zouaves, and the musketry din became terrific, lasting 20 or 30 minutes. Shortly afterwards, an attempt was made to break through the right, which was repulsed. Half an hour later, another attempt was made on the left with the same result.

The battle had been raging for some hours without any apparent change or advantage on either side. Reinforcements of artillery and infantry then came steadily along over the bridge into the field of battle.

The enemy then seemed to make its last determined effort and came in, forcing our men back into the low ground between the hill and the bridge, where they could have been slaughtered by the thousands before they could have crossed that long, narrow bridge.

Wagons, artillery, ambulances and such were hurrying towards the bridge and a panic was almost inevitable, when a strong guard was placed across the bridge at that time, when the enemy had almost reached the main hospital, half a mile from the river.

Mcagher's Irishmen came over the hill, stripped to bare arms and were ordered to go in. They gave a yell and went to work. The result was that the enemy fell back to the woods and thus matters stood up to 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

At dark an attack was made along the front of the entire line and was renewed at 2 a.m. in front of Gens. Hooker, Kearney and Sumner without material result.

Another correspondent says of Friday's battle: Twice all along the front did the rebels attack our lines, our rifle pits and redoubts. Porter, with 50 cannon, and Sumner's, Hooker's and Ayres' guns, moved them down with a death harvest. Their loss in killed and wounded was horrible.

The artillery in both Porter's and Smith's divisions killed the rebels in heaps. The fire was terribly effective.

Miss Cecille Haag was elected president of the Little Theater of the Fox River Valley at a picnic meeting of the organization at Pierce Park. Other new officers included Joan Hoffmann, vice president, Mario Dohr, secretary, Nathan Wanda, Neenah, treasurer, Donald Stone, business manager, Russell Spoor and Albenmay Whittier, directors. James J. Mackesy, production manager, and G. K. Hill, Menasha, technical director.

Robert Hezaga was elected president of the Arno Bloodorn American Legion Post at Brilln. Other officers included William Schneider, vice commander; Arthur Lau, post adjutant; Clement Wolf, service officer; William Kersten, chaplain.

Rosa Dowling won the Neenah city girls' tennis singles championship, defeating Betty Borenz.

Charles H. Velte, Neenah, was elected president of the Wisconsin State Baptist group at the annual convention in Beaver Dam.

Economic Community Seeks Partnership With North America

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK — There has now taken place what is certainly a most important, and it may be a decisive turn for the better in the complicated parallel negotiations about the European Economic Community and the American nuclear deterrent. This is of the Joint Declaration of June 25 of the Action Committee for the United States of Europe, of which the head is M. Jean Monnet. This committee is an unofficial working coalition of party leaders, industrialists, and trade unionists, from the six European countries. It is the political instrument through which M. Monnet and his colleagues work. Its power and influence are great because they are derived from the fact that the committee represents the will of the rising forces in the European post-war generation.

The committee has now spoken out unequivocally in favor of British membership in the European Economic Community and in a European political union. It has declared itself against the separatism of Gen. de Gaulle which would lead to "profitless adventures and preserve that spirit of superiority and domination which not so long ago led Europe to the brink of destruction and could now engulf the world." At the same time the Action Committee declares for a partnership between the new Europe and North America, for a "relationship of two separate but equally powerful entities, each bearing its share of common responsibility in the world."

Support in U. S. The position taken by M. Monnet's Action Committee will command warm support in this country. The adherence of Great Britain to the European Economic Community is indispensable if the hope of a great liberal trading area is to be realized. For if Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries and the European neutrals and the Commonwealth are all outside the Common Market, and in rivalry with it, it will be presumptuous of the Six to call themselves "Europe," and there will be little prospect of a partnership between Europe and the United States.

Equally, we shall give our full support to the idea of a "new partnership of Europe and America" in the field of defense and nuclear weapons. Our argument with Gen. De Gaulle is about a separate, independently operated, French nuclear deterrent. We have never opposed, in fact under both Eisenhower and Kennedy we have offered to help make, a European nuclear deterrent within NATO.

Problem Remains The real question is how to organize such a European deterrent. M. Monnet's Action Committee does not offer, and probably does not have, the blueprint of such a European deterrent. The idea has been discussed for years and there is no agreed solution of the problem of how to make an effective force which is run by a committee of governments.

The Action Committee goes no further than to say that "the new partnership of Europe and America will develop as the outcome of practical and patient effort to tackle together the problems they have in common." This country, which makes no claim to an inherent and inalienable right to nuclear monopoly, asks nothing better than that the problems of a European and American partnership be tackled by practical, patient efforts to deal with concrete matters.

American View If we explore the unsolved problems of how to work out a "relationship of two separate but equally powerful entities," we may ask first: Is it possible for either of these equally powerful entities to wage nuclear war separately? The American answer would be that this is not possible.

Thus, if the Soviet Union launched an all-out attack against Western Europe, it would collide first of all with the large American army in Europe. It would be impossible for the United States to do what Gen. de Gaulle professes to think it might do — to sit still and do nothing and let its European army be annihilated.

In reverse, it is no less true that either Europe or America could engage in a separate nuclear war anywhere, in Europe, Africa, or Asia. Once nuclear war were engaged anywhere, preemptive strikes against hostile nuclear forces in being would become imperative. Even if we can imagine a limited nuclear war, which left great nuclear forces still in being, the fallout would cause hideous and intolerable damage on those who are hoping to sit out of the nuclear war.

Principle of Partnership The conclusion we draw from all this is that in the world today the unique and paramount mission of nuclear forces is to prevent the use of nuclear forces. They cannot be used, as conventional forces can still be used — as for example they are being used in Thailand — as instruments of a national policy. In the American view a nuclear partnership between Europe and America can be worked out only if the first principle of the partnership is that nuclear weapons are for use against nuclear weapons, against the use of those weapons in fact and against the use of such weapons as diplomatic threats.

If this is the sound conclusion to be drawn from the facts of life in the nuclear age, it is very likely to prevail in the end. The new Europe, which the Action Committee is promoting, means to be too strong to invite aggression. But it is not nationalist or militarist in temper.

It will take years to make the new Europe. But it will also take a good many years to make a separate but equally powerful European nuclear force. So the questions which Mr. Rusk and Mr. McNamara are discussing with the European governments are not urgent or critical. What is urgent and critical is that the British negotiations should work out successfully and the American negotiations with the enlarged Common Market should be able to be begun.

Nearly Half of Jews In Algeria Join in Exodus of Refugees

More Leaving Daily With Many Emigrating to Israel

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS—Almost half of the once-prosperous Jewish community in Algeria has left that tormented land and more Jews are leaving every day, French officials in charge of Algerian refugees reported this morning.

Jews have been leaving Algeria since the end of 1959 when President Charles de Gaulle announced plans to make Algeria independent. Today their flight is even more precipitous than that of the terrified French settlers who daily swarm into France's harbors and airports.

200,000 in 1959

The number of Jews living in Algeria at the end of 1959 was estimated at 200,000. They lived in 90 towns and villages, but 62 per cent were in the three big cities—Algiers, Oran and Constantine.

There were 25,000 Arabic-speaking Jews in the Algerian countryside and villages struggling for a meager subsistence as did their Arab countrymen. Strangely the proportion of departures seems to have been greater among them than among the city dwellers. Only 10 per cent of the Agrarian Jews are left with most of the emigrants having gone to Israel.

Some Jewish communities have already virtually disappeared. Out of the 18,000 Jews who lived in Constantine in eastern Algeria only 2,000 remain. In Ain-Temou-chent only a few hundred Jews are left out of 8,000.

Between 75,000 and 100,000 Jewish refugees arrived in France from January, 1960, to June, 1962. Only 5,000 have left for Israel despite the many encouragements they have received from Jewish organizations and Israeli officials here.

Algerian Jews were granted full French citizenship in 1870. Their lives and property are therefore guaranteed by the Evian agreements.

The French are leaving Algeria because they doubt that written agreements will be enough to counterbalance the hatred the Arabs have built up during 132 years of special privileges for the French and the more recent anti-Moslem atrocities of Secret Army fanatics.

In addition, the Jews have some special reasons for apprehension. Old Enmities Continue

They fear the ancient Arab antipathy towards Jews, which has been intensified in recent years by the Arab-Israeli quarrel.

Jews are convinced that the forthcoming Arab government in Algeria will carry on the antagonisms of the Arab League of which the Algerian government in exile has been a member since 1956.

This antagonism has already manifested itself towards Algerian Jews, Jewish sources here report.

In several Algerian towns Jewish merchants and shopkeepers have been boycotted since the end of 1961. Other Jewish refugees say that the Moslems have threatened dire consequences on "the day when Algeria will be our own."

Another reason why Algerian Jews fear the anger and reprisals of the Arabs is the complicity of some of them in the terrorist campaign of the Secret Army Organization. Although some individual Jews refused to support the Secret Army in Oran on the ground that members of the organization were "racists," the great majority of the Oran Jewish population was reported to have followed terrorist directives after the murder of a Jew by a Moslem on the Jewish New Years Day.

Sky-High Costs Reveal Trouble For Moscovites

Even East Germany Better Off Than Soviet Citizens

MOSCOW (AP)—It shocks me today to pay a ruble for a middle-size tomato.

That is a shade over $1, and it is the current price in Moscow.

The shock is acute because I have just returned to Moscow after 10 days outside the Soviet Union—in East and West Germany, and France.

The taxi in from the airport at Frankfurt, in West Germany, passed a stand piled high with fresh fruit. There was no lineup of customers.

Difference

That was my sharp reintroduction to the West after a winter in Moscow when fruit seldom showed up, potatoes were often hard to get, and shelves were frequently almost bare of meat.

Even in East Berlin, which is under Communist control, the traveler finds contrasts with Moscow.

Cloth for a suit of clothes is offered for $75, a high price just for cloth although it is of good quality. Actually you can buy a fairly good looking, ready-made suit for less than that. Thus in East Berlin, seat of the government of troubled East Germany, a suit of clothes can be had for barely half the price of a suit in Moscow. It is of better quality than the Soviet, too.

Moreover, the average pay of workers in East Germany is higher than in the Soviet Union.

In front of a Berlin store a notice is written in chalk:

"New Bulgarian potatoes (rationed) 80 pfennings a kilo."

That is about 10 cents a pound. Not a bad price by today's standards, but reminds you of something else going on.

During the early harvest season when fresh fruit and vegetables are a little scarce everywhere, truck loads roll in from Hungary and Czechoslovakia. They go right through East Germany, through East Berlin and into West Berlin where the fruit and vegetables are sold for free currency needed by the Communist states.

Britain Asked to Change Basic Law of Southern Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has asked that Britain call a conference soon to draft a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia giving a vote to every man in that British African territory whether he is black or white.

The resolution faces an uncertain future. Britain's chief delegate to the U.N. said it was unacceptable and impracticable. An African political leader from the territory warned that if Britain ignored the assembly's advice, bloody revolution might follow.

The resolution was sponsored by 38 African and Asian countries and toughened by a Bulgarian amendment. The assembly adopted it late Thursday in the last act of its 16th annual session, the longest ever, which started Sept. 18.

The vote was 73-1 with 27 abstentions. Only South Africa voted against the resolution.

ter Winske, lieutenant commander, Appleton; LeRoy Sanders, secretary, Neenah, and Harley Barney, treasurer, Appleton, looking at the flags of their office.

Oshkosh May Ask Bids Aug. 29 on School Change

OSHKOSH—City Mgr. Ray Harbough says new bids on remodeling the old high school for use as the city hall probably will be taken Aug. 29.

Original remodeling bids were rejected last fall when they came in almost $200,000 over the estimates. Architects are redesigning the project.

A $700,000 bond issue for the remodeling job has been sold.

Fremont Man Placed On Probation for Cashing Bad Checks

WAUPACA — Kenneth L. Niemuth, 24, route 2, Fremont, was placed on probation for two years by Municipal Justice George Whalen on three charges of obtaining money under false pretense.

Niemuth was sentenced to six months on each charge in the county jail, terms to run consecutive, but the sentence was stayed by Municipal Justice Whalen.

The defendant pleaded guilty of cashing a worthless $35 check June 11 at Cities Service station, a $40 check at the service station June 12. He also pleaded guilty of cashing a $25 check at Dan's Spur Station June 14.

THURSTON

DEAR THURSTON:

Being an educator, you can appreciate the tremendous surge in college enrollments. It is estimated that within the next 10 years they will increase as much as 75 per cent. This means more and more families must anticipate heavy financial burdens, which previously did not exist. The cost of a year in college can cost anywhere from $1,300 to $2,500 and up. Eight thousand dollars is a good average cost for a four-year college education today. And, the way things are going, the price is trending up. The money has to come from somewhere, and you might as well be there to help.

I suggest you investigate what you can earn by selling families college financing programs for their children. Numerous large insurance companies have plans along this line, and less than four calls to local agents should start you talking business.

Worrying About Heart Sometimes Overdone

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had an electrocardiogram but nothing showed up. I have slight pains around my heart, and told my doctor about them, but he said there is nothing wrong with it. Could he be in error? —MRS. V.C.

After an ECG and an examination at which you told your doctor about your pains, the chances of his overlooking heart disease are small. Still, lots of people, for whatever reason, insist upon torturing themselves with fears. Without any basis, that a chest pain is a "heart pain." It is worth going to some trouble to convince them that they are wasting their nervous energy in such worry.

Heart pain is usually a sense of pressure or constriction in the chest, and usually associated with pallor and sweating. The severe pain of angina pectoris as a rule is closely related to effort, to large meals, and the patient doesn't waste much time in finding out what is wrong. Other forms of heart disease can cause shortness of breath and various symptoms, but all can be readily spotted by the doctor.

Other Causes

A lot of other chest pains have nothing to do with the heart. Neuralgia, affecting nerves between the ribs, is one cause. Severe pain in the side of the chest, in older people, often is the harbinger of an attack of shingles, which has nothing to do with the heart.

Muscle strain, perhaps triggered by coughing, lifting, or other exercise, is a very common cause of chest pain, and I've known people to scare themselves half to death before they finally accepted the truth.

Arthritic changes in the spine can cause pressure on nerve trunks, producing chest pain. A bubble of gas (or air) in the stomach can cause sharp, stabbing pains in the left side of the chest.

Gall bladder troubles, appendicitis, stomach and digestive disorders, can cause chest pain.

The change, recommended by the Board of Directors of the Automotive Manufacturers Association, is another in a series of achievements of the group have been the development of the lighting improvements resulting from the work of a cooperating industry research and development group.

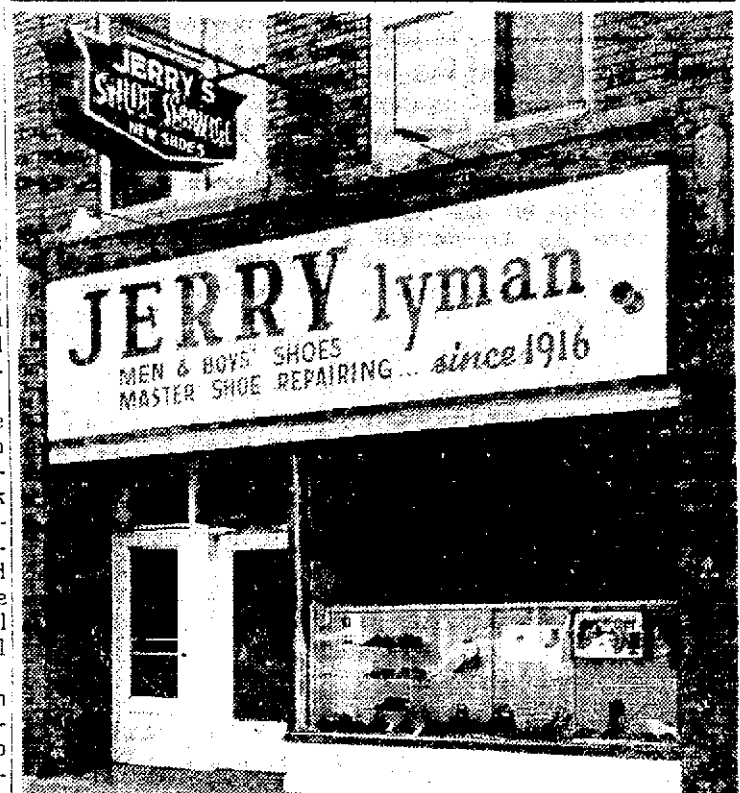

This engineering task force from both the automobile and lamp manufacturing industries found in an intensive program of visibility tests that amber signals can be seen more readily than white against glaring reflections and also provide greater contrast against headlamps at night.

State Laws Amended
Results of these studies were reported to state motor vehicle administrators in 1959 with the suggestion that laws of 25 states restricting the use of amber front turn signals be amended. The necessary amendments have been made now in all the affected states, making adoption of the improvement possible for 1963.

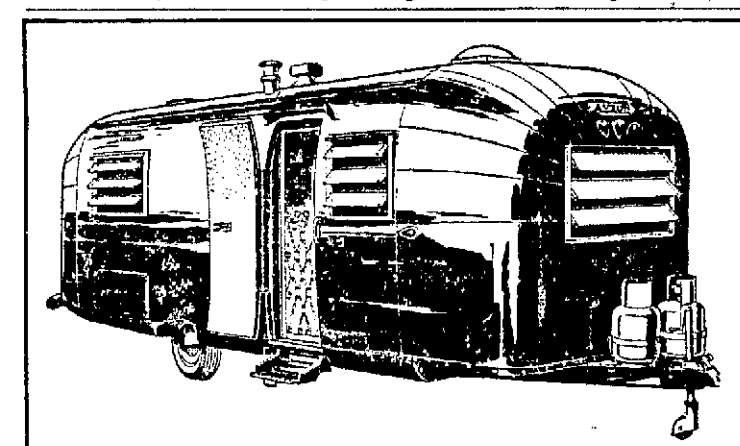

Amber front turn signals are but one part of a whole new high visibility signal system under intensive study by the industry task force. Other more complex aspects of the system, being subjected to hundreds of day and night-time visibility tests, are still under development and will not be ready for application until a later date.

Special attention is being given to the possibility of a dual intensity feature for turn and stop signals that would increase daytime brightness two to four times over present intensities.

Lowered at Night
When headlights are turned on in such a system, rear signal brightness would be lowered to a point where visibility remains high but following drivers are not faced with uncomfortable glare. The intensity of front signals.

Business Must Beat New Profit Squeeze

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Nothing the U.S. government can do will beat the profit squeeze which is strangling an increasing number of U.S. corporations today and is dangerously limiting the growth of our economy.

Porter

No foreseeable business upswing from here will solve the fundamental problem of declining corporation profit ratios, for the simple reason that today's profit squeeze is basically due to intense and bitter competition and this will persist into the indefinite future.

There is no gift from the gods in prospect to restore corporation profits to the levels of earlier post-World War II years, when U.S. industry prospered under the brilliant economic combination of huge pent-up demands for goods, a vast accumulation of savings to buy goods, an exploding growth of new families needing everything we could produce, no competition worth noting.

Roughest Ever

Today's profit squeeze is one of the roughest ever.

It can be beaten, but only by businessmen taking bold, broad, imaginative, stern, unsentimental, realistic actions on their own to do so.

Right now, in every industry which overall is in a pinch a few companies are doing just this. Other companies which want to triumph in the environment of the 1960s will have to follow similar courses.

These, in brief, are the conclusions of a detailed, thought-provoking analysis of "The Second Squeeze on Profits" by J. Roger Morrison and Richard F. Neuschel, to be published in the July-August issue of the Harvard Business Review. Here's the heart of the study.

Retarding Economic Growth

No matter what your sympathies or prejudices, the fact is that a profits squeeze does exist and the evidence is mounting that it has been retarding our growth. There is mounting concern that profits aren't high enough to finance the imperative replacement of our increasingly obsolete factories, much less to finance the enormous total of new plants needed to employ the additional 13 million workers entering our labor force before 1970.

This second squeeze differs from the first, in the 1950s, which was due primarily to the fact that rising costs outran rising prices on finished goods. This second squeeze is due to a declining rate of demand for established products and a slowing rate of demand for new products.

It is due to the fact that many industries have substantial unused capacity, and this not only depresses prices but also sparks intense competition. It is due to skyrocketing foreign competition. It is due to the fact that prices have stabilized, and even in periods of sharp business upturn corporations can't hike their prices enough to absorb higher costs.

No Automatic Relief

"No automatic relief is in sight" for this sort of squeeze, say Morrison and Neuschel.

"There are no broad economic forces now in prospect to bring profits" up to a "more satisfactory level." Yet, the fact that in each industry some companies are conquering the squeeze emphasizes that this pinch "is obviously sensitive to management action." Specifically:

(1) Cost reduction by decree—"arbitrary expense cutting" ranging from controlling use of paper clips to outlawing company planes. There are many instances where companies have slashed costs 10 to 25 per cent by this pressure—but it has to be "stern" and realistic.

Slash Costs

(2) Review of all existing operations, to slash costs and to increase income. The president of one $1 billion corporation requested each vice president to study over a five-year period every activity under his responsibility to find profit improvement opportunities. In the first year, savings ranged from 20 to 25 per cent on each activity studied and profits were hiked by tens of millions.

(3) Search for fundamental changes, for the forces behind the second profit squeeze "have generated many profit opportunities that are greater in scope and size than those whittled away by the relentless erosion of competition."

Rethink every policy, re-examine every facility and organization structure. Don't hesitate to undertake drastic surgery. As one company president puts it, "It is like starting out all over again in business."

"The real answer to the second profit squeeze" lies in the combination of sound management of each function with bold and broad evaluation of new profit opportunities," conclude Morrison and Neuschel.

In one of the nation's most respected business publications, the challenge to business has been coldly and unsentimentally flung down.

Vows Taken by Chilton Woman

CHILTON — The daughter of a Chilton couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Mortimer, 24 N. Columbia St., has taken perpetual vows in the Order of St. Francis.

She is the former Betsy Mortimer, now Sister Jesse Marie, O.S.F. The rites were performed at the St. Joseph Convent, Milwaukee.

Sister Jesse Marie graduated from Alverno College, Milwaukee, in 1958 with a business education degree. She taught the past three years at Holy Trinity School, Winstead, Minn., and St. Patrick High School, Fremont, Neb.

Chilton Student at Journalism Session

CHILTON — Gretchen Bloomer, Chilton High School, is one of 104 high school students now attending a two-week summer session in journalism at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

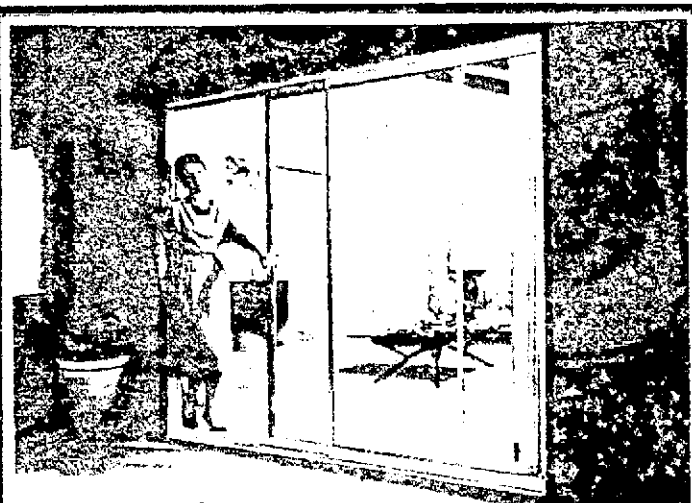

The workshop is sponsored by the school's extension service in journalism. The high school students receive instructions on high school yearbook and newspaper editing.

Miss Bloomer was awarded the scholarship from the Kiwanis Club. The group annually sends four students to the university campus for workshops in music, speech and journalism.

Ferguson's 38-Yard Run Enables East, '11' To Down West, 13-8

OSU Product Picked As All-American Bowl Game's MVP

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A timely halftime change in the East's pass defense played a major role in a 13-8 victory over the West in Friday night's second annual All-American Football Bowl.

"We gave them (The West) the long pass and over-loaded against the short, flare-type passes in the flats," Woody Hayes of Ohio State said.

"We took the game away from them in the second half, mostly because we were in better shape," he added.

It wasn't easy as all that, however.

The East broke the scoring ice in the opening stages of the second half after Art Perkins, the West's fullback from North Texas State fumbled and Nick Buonocomi of Notre Dame recovered on the West 43.

Scores in 8 Plays

In eight plays, under the able direction of Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, the East went in to score. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State picked up 13 yards in the drive on three carries and Gabriel added 16 in four.

Along the way, Gabriel completed a 14-yard pass to halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, putting the ball on the West three.

But the breaks reversed themselves before the period was over. On the way for what looked like another scoring drive, the East suddenly found itself trailing after Minnesota. End Tom Hall picked off a Gabriel pass on his own 30 and raced through a host of Easterners, including Gabriel, and scored.

Sandy Stephens, another Gopher product, put the West ahead 8-7 on an option sweep with just a fraction over a minute remaining in the period.

The next time the East got possession, it started an 80-yard scoring thrust. Gabriel hit Miami's glue-fingered Bill Miller with a 43-yard pass to put the ball on the West 28.

Then the crushing Mr. Ferguson blasted off the left side, reversed his field before some startled West defenders and rumbled for six points. A Gabriel to Davis pass for two more points failed.

Most of the crowd of 22,759 saw a full 60 minutes of thrills, including a last-ditch effort by the West. With a little over two minutes to go, the West took possession on

Dave Pickle Stops C-Sox In Relief

By JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes treated 1,430 Goodland Field fans to their best long-ball hitting display at home this season Friday night as they smacked three home runs and defeated Clinton, 7-4.

Dick Pickle, who turned in another superb relief performance picked up his fifth victory of the campaign without a setback. Pickle came in during the fourth inning and gave up only two hits the rest of the way.

The same two teams will wind up the current Foxes' home stand when they meet at 8 p.m. today at Goodland Field. It will be Glen Miller night and a tribute to the Chicago White Sox farm director, and former resident of Kaukauna, will be paid in pre-game ceremonies.

Bob Litchfield, the second batter for the Foxes in the first inning gave an indication of what was to come when he poked a long homer over the left field fence to give the Foxes a 1-0 lead.

John Price socked a 2-run blast over the left center field barrier in the fourth and Dan Markowski hit a solo shot over the right field fence in the seventh. It was the first homer this season for Litchfield and Price and the fourth for Markowski.

Following Litchfield's blast in the first, the Foxes added a pair of runs in the second when Bob Lewandowski singled with the bases loaded. Price started things off with a single and Charlie Bee drew a walk. Jerry Bean, the Foxes starter beat out a perfect bunt to load the sacks and set the stage for Lewandowski's hit.

Clinton went ahead in the top of the fourth with all four of its runs. Bill DiCrista drove in one with a double and Jon Scott accounted for another with a two-bagger.

Don Jackson, World Skating Champion, Signs Pro Contract

TORONTO (AP)—Don Jackson, Canada's 21-year-old world figure skating champion, signed a three-year professional contract Friday with the Ice Follies show.

No salary figures were announced. Jackson signed with Eddie Shipstad of California, co-owner of the Ice Follies. Shipstad said in an interview that Jackson would report to San Francisco July 10 and "we'll try to work him into the show as soon as possible."

Shipstad added that the 1963 edition of the Ice Follies would make its world premiere in Los Angeles next Sept. 6 and Jackson would be a headliner.

Rich Rollins, Cepeda Lead 1962 All-Star Teams in Vote-Getting

Crandall Is Only Brave Chosen on Starting Unit

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Rich Rollins, Minnesota's rookie third baseman, and Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco's slugging first baseman, were the top vote-getters on the American and National League All-Star teams announced today following a poll conducted among the major league ball players, coaches and managers.

Rollins Cepeda

The first of two All-Star games this summer will be played in Washington's new District of Columbia Stadium Tuesday July 10. The second game will be played on Monday July 30 at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The games will start at 1 p.m. local time.

The American leads in the all-time standing 16-14 with one tie. Proceeds go to the players pension funds.

Rollins, who played only 13 big league games prior to this season, received 184 out of a possible 280 votes, to beat out such topflight third basemen as Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, who finished second in the voting. Clevis Boyer of New York and Frank Malzone of Boston.

Gentle Chosen
The 24-year-old Kent State University alumnus was joined on the American League infield by Jim Gentile of Baltimore at first base.

Billy Moran of Los Angeles at second and Luis Aparicio of Chicago at shortstop.

Cepeda, who was selected on the 1961 All-Star team as a left fielder, ran away from his competitors in the battle for first base honors. He received 229 votes of the 280 cast. Ernie Banks of Chicago, the converted shortstop, was runner-up with 72.

The rest of the National League All-Star infield consisted of Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh at second, Ken Boyer of St. Louis at third and Dick Groat of Pittsburgh at shortstop.

The balloting revealed a surprising turnover from both of last year's All-Star squads. The only repeaters in the American League were the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle in center field and Roger Maris in right. Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels won the left field spot and Earl Battey of the Twins was named the top catcher, beating out John Romano of Cleveland. The National League also had its first complete game of the just two repeaters. They were

Oh, that Ed Bailey! The 31-year-old catcher, who found himself dislodged from Cincinnati's pennant-bound express last year, powered San Francisco back into first place in the National League Friday night by hitting his third clutch home run in four days for a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia.

Bailey's shot leading off the 12th inning was No. 12 for the Giants' receiver and pushed the San Franciscans a half-game up on Los Angeles. The Dodgers, again trading places with the Giants in their two-tame struggle, were beaten by the New York Mets 10-4.

Hitless in 17 previous trips to the plate, Bailey got started on his hot streak Tuesday when he hit a grand slam homer as a pinch hitter. Tying it up for the Giants and enabling them to go on and beat the Reds, Wednesday he tagged a two-run shot in the

White Sox Win
The New York Yankees clipped the Los Angeles Angels 6-3 and moved to within a half-game of the leading Cleveland Indians, 3-2 losers at Chicago. Hank Aguirre and Detroit shut out Baltimore 1-0 on three hits and Washington beat Minnesota 6-3 in 10 innings on Chuck Hinton's home run.

Clinton hit his first homer of the evening high into the screen atop the left field wall in the sixth after Frank Malzone tripled and Pete Runnels and Jim Pagliaroni drew intentional bases on balls. That broke up a 2-1 game. He homered again in the eighth, with Runnels again on base, giving him 13 runs batted in on his eight hits this season.

The lusty belting made it easy for Billy Monbouquette (7-7) to Roger Maris in right. Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels won the left field spot and Earl Battey of the Twins was named the top catcher, beating out John Romano of Cleveland. The National League also had its first complete game of the just two repeaters. They were Hank Aaron singled to center leading off in the seventh for the Braves' second hit, but he was doubled at second trying to steal as Maye struck out.

The fifth and last double play came in the eighth as Buhl gave up his fifth walk, putting Frank Bolling on base. Milwaukee's third hit, Del Crandall's pinch single to right, sent Bolling to third. When Buhl worked up a two balls and no strike count on McMillan before Elston was called to duty.

McMillan hit into the game's fifth double play, ending the threat.

Right-hander Buhl took his fifth victory, all of them since he was traded to Chicago, against as many losses, four of them while working for the Cubs. Buhl fanned five batters, including Aaron, Mathews and Adcock among his victims.

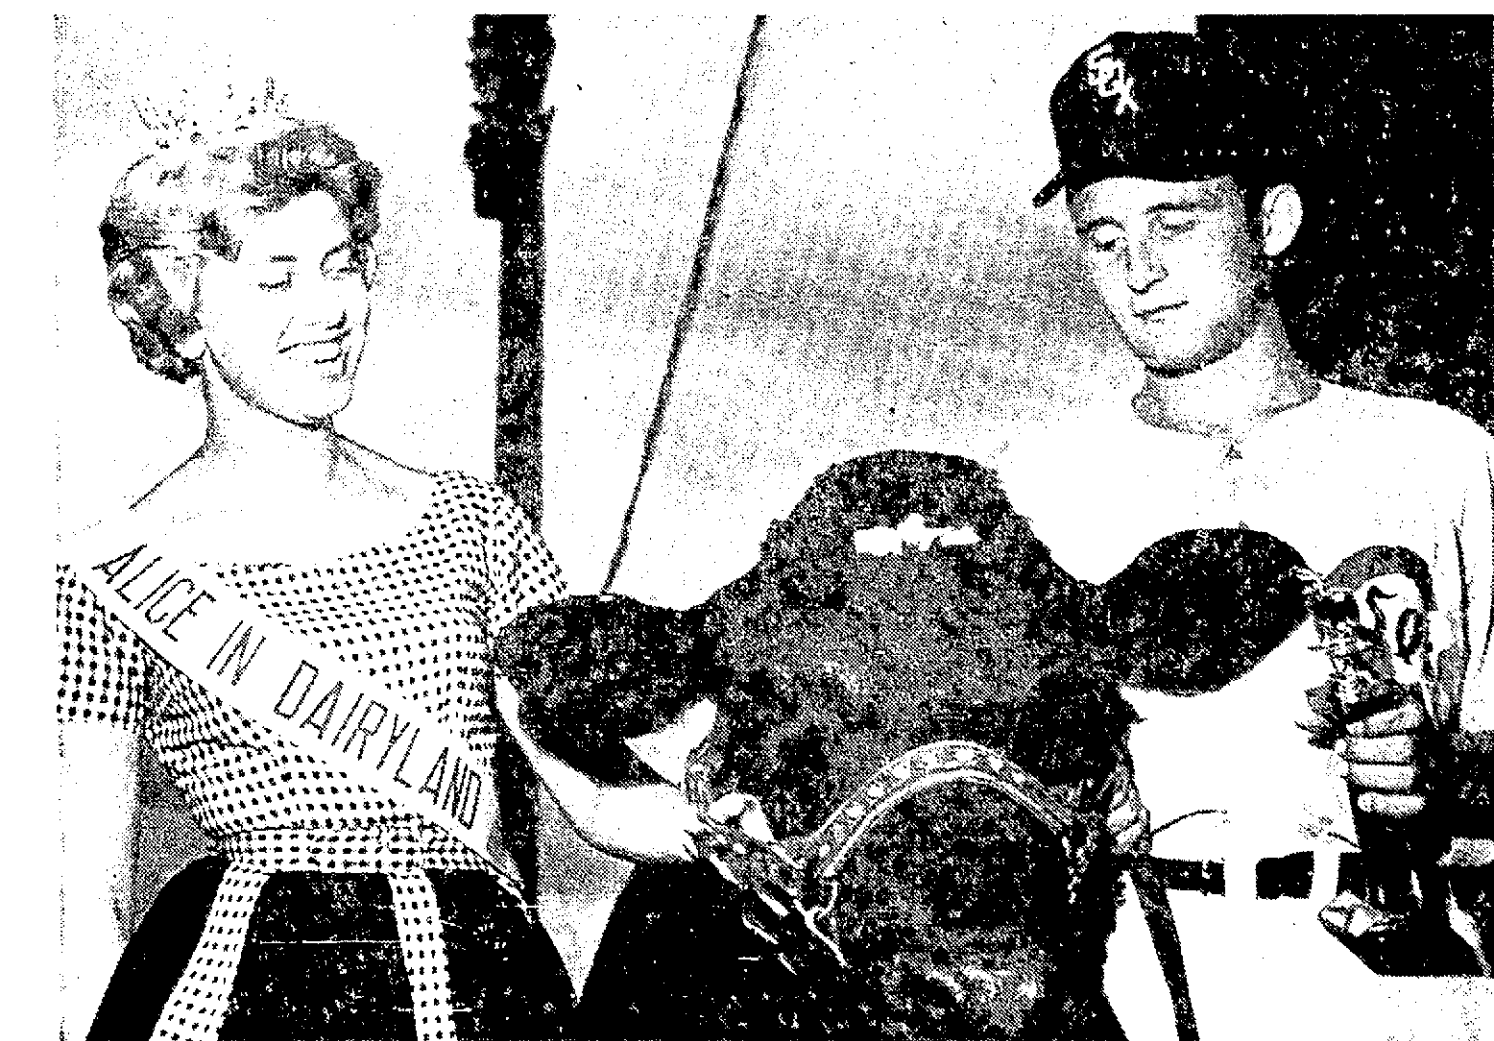

The Cubs opened the scoring in the second, singles by George Altman and Rodgers producing the tally. Altman's double and another single by Rodgers gave the Cubs their fourth run in the sixth. Billy Williams drove in the other Chicago runs with singles, one in the third scoring the doubling Don Landrum and his second scoring the walking Moe Thacker in the fifth.

The Cubs battered three Milwaukee hurlers for nine hits. Tony Cloninger was the starter and loser and is now 2-2.

New York record of having never lost to the Angels in Yankee Stadium and pushed the Yanks one game ahead of the surprising Angels.

Angels Tie It

A Leon Wagner single, Bob Rodgers' triple and a throwing error by Ford allowed the Angels to tie it 3-3 in the seventh, but the Yanks' went ahead to stay in the next half inning and put it out of reach with two in the eighth.

Chicago scored all its runs on five hits after two were out in the first inning. Joe Cunningham and Floyd Robinson singled and both scored on Charley Maxwell's double. Al Smith beat out an infield single before Maxwell scored on a single by Jim Landis. Woody Held accounted for all the Cleveland runs off Ray Herbert (7-4) with his 11th home run in the seventh.

Aguirre (6-2) struck out 11 in his three-hit master piece against Baltimore. He didn't permit a runner past second and retired 16 men in a row over one stretch. The loss went to Chuck Estrada (4-9), who allowed only five hits. It was the fifth time in seven starts Estrada has been the victim of a shutout. Detroit got its only run in the first on singles by Bill Bruton and Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito's sacrifice fly.

Hinton's two-out 10th inning homer was the difference for the Senators against Minnesota. Hinton also was credited with driving in the tying run when he drew a bases-loaded walk in the eighth. Then, in the 10th, Harry Bright doubled with two out, and Bob Schmidt walked before Hinton hit his 11th homer. Dave Stenhouse

Murray Warmath of Minnesota, head coach of the West, said "our fumbles gave it away."

But two of the lost fumbles came in the scoreless first half. The third was the costliest, coming in the opening moments of the second half.

In the balloting for most valuable player, Ferguson picked up 15 votes to 11 for Gabriel. The award winner carried 18 times for 99 yards, while Gabriel's 12 pass completions in 18 tries accounted for 143 yards. He also covered 38 yards in a dozen carries.

Gertz Wins, Ties For Softball Lead

KAUKAUNA — Gertz thumped Rich's, 9-3, to move into a 3-way tie with Powers' and Rich's for the lead in the Kaukauna Tavern Softball League.

Bob La Plant, the winning pitcher, allowed only six hits.

Ranch Bar dropped Kapell's, 5-1. The winning pitcher, Bill Kerscher, allowed only one hit.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Lu Clinton, Red Sox, playing with Carroll Hardy ill, and batting only .097, hit grand slam homer in sixth inning and two-run homer in eighth, powering Boston to 9-3 triumph over Kansas City.

PITCHING — Hank Aguirre, Tigers, limited Baltimore to three singles, striking out 11 and didn't allow a runner past second base in 1-0 Detroit victory.

CORVEN, South Wales—Phil Edwards (Cleveland), Sam R. W. P. 7-2, Waterford, Miss., 1-0 (heavy duty).

LC-K, Macs Duel Sunday

FRVL Headliner Will be Played in Little Chute

The Fourth of July is close at hand, and second-round play in the Fox River Valley Baseball League is expected to start with a bang when first half champion, Little Chute-Kimberly entertains the Menasha Macs at Little Chute Sunday afternoon.

In other games, Kaukauna will be at Green Bay, Harrison visits

Freedom and Morrison will be at Fond du Lac.

The Macs and Papermakers, long-time league rivals, had a fireworks of their own after the first meeting between the two teams in the first round. Menasha won the game, 7-6, but LC-K protested the use of a player not on the roster. The protest was allowed at a league meeting and instead of a victory, the Macs were given a loss. At the time, it was the first defeat of the season for Menasha and dropped them out of a first place tie.

Capture Title

The Papermakers went on to take the first round title with a 7-0 record. Menasha finished with a 5-2 mark, losing also to Freedom.

The starting hurler for the Papermakers has not been named. Four pitchers saw some action against Stevens Point in an exhibition game Thursday night. The starter will be picked from Bob Schmidt, Faye Mohlberg, Roy Thiel and Hank Peerenboom. Don Van Handel also is available for relief duty.

Jim Meyer will start for the Macs. The fast-baller was the strikeout king in the league last season when he led the Macs to the league crown.

Howard Manthey is the probable starter for Freedom against Harrison. Manthey had a 6-1 record in the first round, losing only to LC-K Cliff Reed. Dick Wankay or John Stoffel will start for Harrison.

Fond du Lac, fourth-place finisher in the first round, hopes to get off on the right foot against Morrison. Fondy had trouble with Morrison in their first game, finishing with a 1-0 record, losing to a nally pulling out a one-run victory in the last inning.

John Gores will probably hurl for Fond du Lac and either Ken Smith or Bob Roffers will go for Morrison. Roffers was defeated by Kaukauna his last time out, despite recording 13 strikeouts.

Kaukauna will have either Ed Schaefer or Leigh Wachel on the mound against Green Bay. The Bays will probably counter with Tom Porter or Bud Tozier.

They'll Do It Every Time

Scruggs Leads ML in Triples

Foxes Share Fielding Lead With Clinton

Despite the fact that he's been in the Midwest League for a considerably shorter time than most regulars, the Fox Cities Foxes' John Scruggs ranks first in hitting triples.

The speedy outfielder has socked six. Scruggs is the only individual departmental leader for the Foxes this week on the basis of statistics compiled by the Howe News Bureau.

The Foxes, however, are tied for the team lead in fielding with Clinton — .949 apiece. Fox Cities is fifth in team batting, with .247. Quincy leads with a .268 mark.

Burlington's Felix Pizarro is the official league batting leader, with a .349 average. Decatur's John Price and Clinton's Bill DiMorrison. Roffers was defeated by Kaukauna his last time out, despite recording 13 strikeouts.

Kaukauna will have either Ed Schaefer or Leigh Wachel on the mound against Green Bay. The Bays will probably counter with Tom Porter or Bud Tozier.

Subway '9' Wins In Extra Innings

Elertson Homer Decides Issue In Kaukauna Softball Tourney

KAUKAUNA — Doug Elertson Ken Wolf had two hits apiece to belted a 2-out home run, with one pace the Subway attack. Carl man aboard, in the top half of the Bowers was the only batsman to ninth inning to give Subway Bar a 7-5 victory over Modern Bar in the Kaukauna Softball Tourney here Friday night.

Elertson's blow came in the second extra frame after Don Gauthier had singled. The clout victory over Powers (Kaukauna); Swan Club (DePere); a 3-0 victory over McMahon's (Luxemburg); and Star Bar (Neenah) with a 3-1 victory over Shamrock (Kaukauna).

The tournament continues with two games slated for today and three tonight. Other teams advancing in Friday's action were Clout Oasis (Oshkosh), with a 7-4 victory over Powers (Kaukauna); Swan Club (DePere), with a 3-0 victory over McMahon's (Luxemburg); and Star Bar (Neenah) with a 3-1 victory over Shamrock (Kaukauna).

Kaukauna scored five runs in the first and coasted in as Don Rumford hurled a 5-hitter. Bill Vanderloop cracked an inside-the-park home run in the sixth inning for Powers.

Bob Nagel put forth the best pitching effort of the evening for Swan Club. He limited McMahon's to only one hit, a single by Al Brietlow.

Swan Club scored all three of their runs in the sixth when two men walked and Howie Eichhorst cracked a home run.

Connie Knuts authored the victory for Star Bar with a 3-hitter against Shamrock. John Chapleau paced the Neenah team with two-out three.

Western Open Spectator Dies Of Heart Attack

Harney, Cupit Share Lead at Halfway Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—A tragic mishap, the heart attack death of a spectator, left the $50,000 Western Open golf tournament still up for grabs at the halfway mark today.

Co-leaders with 3-under-par 138 after Friday's second round on perplexing Medinah Country Club No. 3 course were two lightly-reckoned contenders, Paul Harney and Jacky Cupit of the large golfing family.

Harney and Cupit were one stroke ahead of first-round leader Fred Hawkins, who slowed from an opening 68 to a 72 for 140.

Just two strokes off the pace at 141 was South African Gary Player.

Nicklaus Has 73

Still quite in the running at 143 was U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, despite a second round 73.

The stricken spectator, Ellis Smith, 41, a construction company treasurer from Evanston, Ill., unsettled at least two prime contenders—Arnie Palmer and Cupit.

Smith, who later died in a hospital, collapsed in a stand of trees just after Palmer's drive from the 18th tee landed nearby.

Palmer waited 15 minutes before taking his second shot as an ambulance was summoned to remove Smith. For the second straight day, Palmer—the year's top money-winner and co-favorite—topped money-winner and co-favorite Nicklaus—took a double bogey 6 on the 18th and wound up with a 3-over-par 74 for 147. That left him in a 10-way tie for 22nd.

"I had the feeling," explained Palmer, "that my golf game wasn't very important with a man apparently near death." Cupit—who needed only a closing par to take the 36-hole lead—was held up at the 18th tee for 15 minutes as a result of the unfortunate mishap.

"I didn't know the cause for the delay and I was pretty edgy at the time," said Cupit.

As a result, Cupit drove into the woods off the 18th and wound up with a bogey 5 and a second-round 70 for his 36-hole tie with Harney. Harney also had a second-round 70.

Coated Paper '9' Trims Elm Tree In Makeup Game

Harvey Miller pitched a 5-hit game as Coated Paper scored a 12-5 victory over Elm Tree in an American Industrial Softball League makeup game Wednesday night.

The win gives Coated Paper a 4-2 league mark while Elm Tree is 2-4.

The winners had a 6-1 lead going into the last inning when they led the game with a 6-run scoring burst. Elm Tree scored four in the last of the seventh.

Don Coyle had 4-for-5 to lead Coated.

Wright, Jessen Share Lead

Mrs. Hagge Third In Women's National Open

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—Mickey Wright and Ruth Jessen, who have dominated women's professional golf all year, carry their battle down the stretch in the National Open's last two rounds today.

They shared the 36-hole lead at 148, four strokes over par, and were paired together for today's rounds.

They held a three-stroke lead over Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge, whose 151 gave her third place, a shot ahead of Barbara Romack, Mary Lena Faulk, Joann Prentice and Mrs. Muriel Lindstrom.

Shoots A 73

Miss Wright, who shot 73 in Friday's second round after bogeying three of the first five holes, concedes that playing a double round over the 6,400-yard Dunes Golf and Beach Club course should work to her advantage.

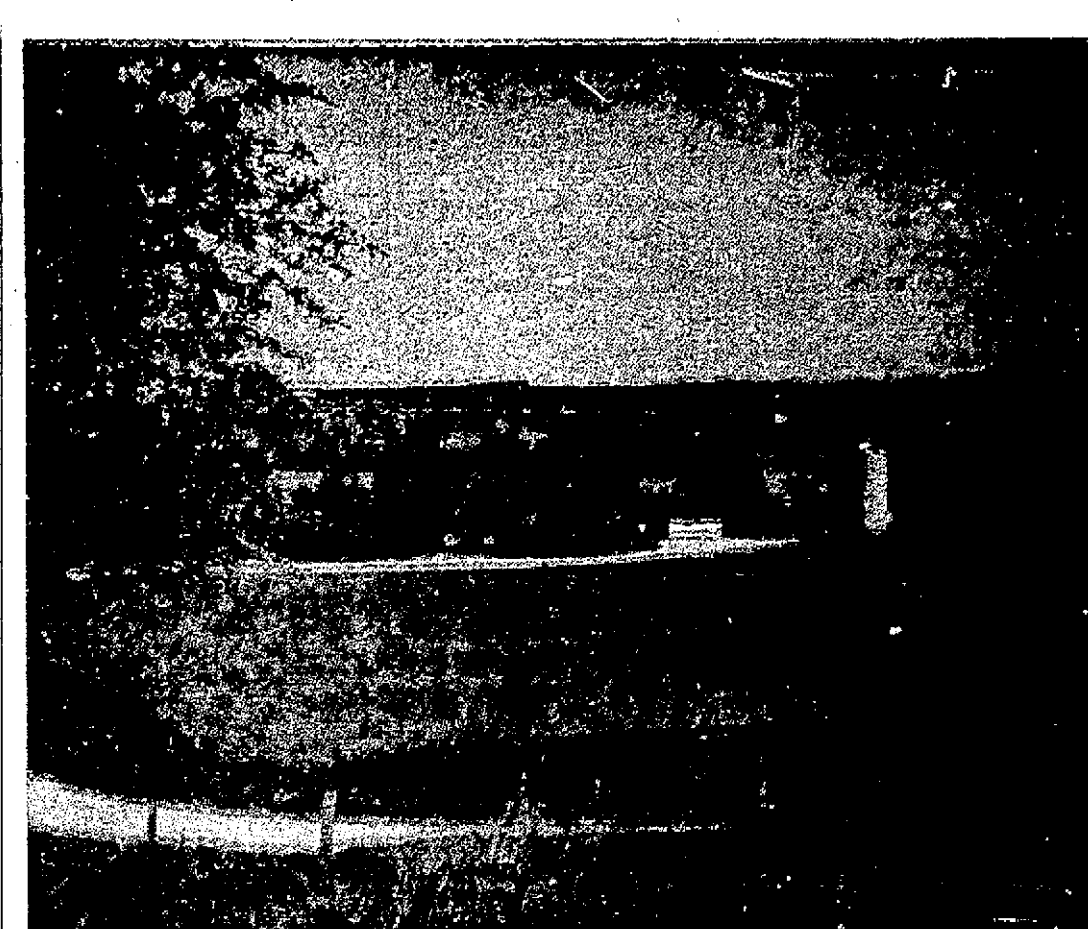

Ruth, who missed five putts for 14 to 12 feet Friday en route to a 4-over-par 76, played with the handicap of a stiff neck and left side. It's a recurring ailment that doctors can't cure and it had her in traction for three months two years ago.

In the event of a 72-hole tie, an 18-hole playoff will be staged Sunday.

4 Other Champs Crowned

Langman and Pam Schroeder Win Top District Net Titles

Rocky Langman Friday won the district tennis championship of the Boys 16-18 age group by defeating Dave Wollwage, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 in over Mike Nichols.

Barbara Bauer won the title in the Girls under-14 class by defeating Sue Simpson, 6-0, 6-1, in the finals. Miss Bauer had beaten Carol Verbrick, 6-3, 6-2, and Miss Simpson had edged Jean Krueger, 4-6, 6-1, 11-9, in the semi-finals.

Five other champions were crowned in the tourney played on the Appleton High courts and Recreation Department and the Wisconsin Recreation Association. The winners are eligible to compete in the state meet.

In the top girls group (16-18), the champion is Pam Schroeder. She defeated Andi Polisky, 6-1, 6-3.

Ron Mills rallied from a love-set beating to the win title in the Boy's 14-16 category. Mills beat Jim Hill, 0-6, 6-1 and 6-1, in the finals. Mills had beaten Lee Levknecht in the semi-finals, 6-3, 6-0, while Hill stopped Frank McGinnis, 6-3, 6-4.

Diane Sharp, a 6-0, 7-5 winner over Barbara Spetch, is the 1982 champion of the Girls 14-16 class. In the semis, Miss Sharp beat Sandy Maltz, 6-0, 6-1, while Miss Spetch defeated Jane Sundin, 6-4, 7-5.

Luis Rodriguez Favored Over Armstrong

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight Ace Armstrong hasn't picked a soft touch for his first fight in 16 months.

The onetime high-ranking contender from Elizabeth, N.J., takes on Luis Rodriguez, the No. 2 welterweight challenger from Cuba and Miami, in the 10-round television (ABC TV 9 p.m., EST) fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Rodriguez, winner of six straight and one of the shiftest and busiest fighters in the ring today, is the 8-5 favorite over the slightly shopporn and ring-rusty Jerseyite.

Happy and Hopeful

But as long as he doesn't have to face fierce Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight king from Nigeria, Armstrong is happy and hopeful.

Armstrong has lost only three fights in building up his 19-13 won-lost-draw record and all of the defeats were inflicted by Tiger. The last one 16 months ago ended in a ninth round technical knockout and sidelined the Ace with a broken rib and numerous lumps and bruises.

Rodriguez, hopeful of meeting the winner of the July 13 Emile Griffith-Ralph Dupas welter title fight, has a 43-2 record.

One of Top Iowa Ends Killed in Traffic Accident

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP)—James Gordon Helgens, 21, outstanding end on last fall's University of Iowa football team, was killed Thursday in a traffic accident.

Helgens, a summer employee of the men's reformatory at Anamosa, was riding in a truck with a prison inmate when it collided with another truck at a street intersection.

Helgens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Helgens of Scotch Grove, Iowa, lettered as an end last year and would have been a junior this year.

Foxes Defeat Clinton, 7-4

the fourth, walking three batters while the Foxes committed a pair of errors and Pickle came in. Pickle got Marv Staehle to ground out with the bases loaded to end the threat.

The Foxes took the lead back in their half of the fourth when Markowski led off with a double and Price followed with his home run clout. Bree singled but was cut down in a fielder's choice. Pickle got on base on the play, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Litchfield's single. Markowski put some icing on the cake in the seventh when he smacked a 1-on-g shot over the right field fence in the seventh.

Pickle held the C-Sox hitless until the eighth inning when Bob Kilpatrick singled. Scott hit his second double in the ninth but was stranded.

'Talkies' Ended First Job

One-Time Vaudeville Star Retires From Second Career in Police Work

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If it hadn't been for talking movies, John Wettengel, 65, 722 W. Lawrence St., might be retiring today as the nation's top vaudeville musician instead of as a county radio operator in the traffic department.

After Wettengel's final transmission was recorded Friday, the thin, easy speaking man closed his second career in one lifetime.

His career as a radio operator, Wettengel admits, did not reach the pinnacle of that of his first which began as a youth of 15 when he became the youngest employed union drummer in Appleton.

"I could have been tops," Wettengel says. "When I quit, I was considered among the best percussion men in the business. But there was no more work in the 'pits' after talking movies came out. Vaudeville musicians just disappeared."

In Police Work

Wettengel "disappeared" into county law enforcement work, first as an assistant to sheriff department officials and then, in the early part of World War II, as a balliff in Judge Joseph McCarthy's Circuit Court.

In 1945, Wettengel went into the radio operation, which at the time was in an experimental status. Radio operators worked in other functions throughout the department, assisting as jailers if the occasion arose.

Radio traffic in the early days wasn't as complicated, detailed procedure, with only three county traffic patrolmen. The early radio equipment, however, was attached to at least six city police cars and several other county traffic departments and the whole thing "became rather confusing."

Vaudeville drumming "was big money" Wettengel insists and was the primary reason he chose that profession soon after he was discharged from the Navy after World War I.

"We sometimes had to learn musical selections for 15 to 20 different performers on the same bill. Each had his own music. We had a chance to go through the band. Then we went through with the performance."

Ginger Rogers

One of Wettengel's most delightful performances was playing the drums for a young blond dancer who he remembers had a roomful of red high-heeled dancing shoes.

Wettengel met his wife, Grace, in Marshalltown, Iowa, where he was playing a vaudeville date. Grace was the ticket taker at the theater. The two courted for a year and were married in 1921.

After "talkies," Wettengel moved back to Appleton, where he was born. He went to work in the old Fox Theater (now the H. C. Prange Co. annex) and later he became the business agent and secretary for Local 337 of the American Federation of Musicians.

While in Appleton, Wettengel performed on the opening radio program of WJBY when the station began operations atop the Zuehlke Building. He remembers the song he played was "Black and White Rag."

Joins Dance Band

Wettengel joined the Tom Temple dance band in Appleton and "trouped" through the midwest on one night engagements. When arthritis caught up with the drummer and he could no longer hold the sticks, Wettengel retired from the band.

A member of the Elks band, Fred H. Frank, then the Outagamie County sheriff, convinced Wettengel to help him out in the early 1940's and Wettengel began a part-time career with the county.

It was in March, 1945, that Wettengel began his second full-time career as radio operator with the Outagamie County traffic department and he has been on the air for 17 years.

Wettengel and his wife plan a trip to the World's Fair this fall, a visit with relatives and a possible complete retirement to Florida this winter.

Youths Spend Night in Jail for Taking Melon

OSHKOSH — Three young men spent Friday night in the Winnebago County jail and are to appear before County Judge James V. Sitter Monday on petty larceny charges. They admitted taking a watermelon from the front of an Oshkosh supermarket. The trio was seen by a Winnebago County patrolman.

Two Candidates Take Papers for Winnebago Posts

OSHKOSH — Two Democratic candidates for Winnebago County offices took out nomination papers Friday afternoon and one Republican candidate filed his completed papers.

Patrick J. Hephner, 533 Division St., Oshkosh, announced his candidacy for register of deeds and James F. Witkowski, 31, 4854 Fairview Beach Road, Oshkosh, took out papers for county clerk.

County Treasurer Frank Luedke filed his completed papers. Witkowski attended Oshkosh State College and is employed at Plymouth Oshkosh. He is married to the former Rosemary Williams of Omro and has one child.

He is a navy veteran and served during the Korean War. Hephner could not be reached for a comment.

Three Fox Cities Men Get Posts on Lutheran Boards

Three Fox Cities men were elected to positions on boards of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, which concluded its 10-day convention in Cleveland Friday.

The Rev. Walter Lichtsinn, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Menasha, was re-elected to the Synod's board of pensions. The Rev. Henry Simon, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church, Appleton, was elected one of six pastors on the denomination's 11-man board of world missions.

T. H. Hartman, 1424 S. Alicia Drive, was chosen for a post on the stewardship board.

Attending the convention from the Fox Cities area were Pastor Lichtsinn, Pastor Simon and Pastor R. A. Muehl, formerly of Kaukauna.

More than 2,000 clergy and lay delegates and visitors attended the triennial meeting of the 2,500,000 member church body.

Upset Bar Patron Puts Fist Through Window; Hospitalized

An Appleton man, enraged at being ejected from a bar, put his fist through a tavern window and ended up in Appleton Memorial Hospital with injuries, police reported today.

Charles Radtke, 29, 1338 W. Prospect Ave., was treated for a cut artery early this morning. He was expected to be released today.

Radtke was at Eddie Mullins' Town Club, 1513 N. Richmond St. Police said he had been ejected from the club about 1 a.m.

He became angry and stuck his fist through a window, cutting the artery. He was taken to the hospital by Lindy's ambulance.

Winnebago Patient Found Dead Friday On Hospital Grounds

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County police are investigating the death of a 22-year-old patient at the Winnebago State Hospital whose body was found Friday afternoon on the grounds of the hospital.

He was identified as Adolph Kreft, Tomahawk, a patient since January. Death was believed caused by the swallowing of a volatile liquid.

Kreft had the liberty of the grounds and was reported missing Thursday afternoon. He was found about 3 p. m. Friday.

Hospital authorities said it appeared that Kreft had taken his own life. The liquid used is being checked and could have been something like lighter fluid, paint or something similar.

Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago County coroner, declined to rule on the cause of death until after the investigation is completed.

New Pastor To Conduct 1st Services

WAUPACA — The Rev. Harold Reemtsma, new pastor of First Baptist Church here, will conduct his first services as pastor Sunday morning.

The Rev. and Mrs. Reemtsma and their children, Philip David, 6; Russell Loran, 4; and Gail Elaine, 10 months, arrived here Thursday from Morris, Minn., where he had served as pastor of First Baptist Church for six years.

The new pastor is from Mountain Lake, Minn., and was graduated from Northwestern College and Seminary, Minneapolis.

2 More Weeks in Jail For Lonely Hearts Girl

Counsel Asks Continuation of Case; Investigation Needed, Judge Says

A 17-year-old West Virginia girl she has been confined to the juvenile section of the Outagamie County jail.

Miss Williams was arrested by Appleton police last weekend charged with passing worthless checks in two Appleton supermarkets. Mrs. Marion C. Vanden Boogart, 20, 1061 E. Kimberly Ave., pleaded innocent Monday to a charge of aiding and abetting in a forgery.

She has been respondent of several weeks only to appear for trial July 12 in County Court, Branch 2. Police claim Mrs. Vanden Boogart showed Miss Williams how to make out the worthless checks and accompanied her in the two supermarkets.

When Miss Williams appeared from her court-appointed counsel before Judge Keller Friday she because, he said, "there are certain matters pertaining to this case which must be investigated."

Gordon Sorenson, who has told the Judge Keller continued the court he was interested in the young woman's $1,000 bond and case.

Jane Kozak, Miss Oshkosh, left, and Trudy Mikell, Miss Madison, were winners in the preliminary Miss Wisconsin contest at Kenosha Friday. Miss Kozak, 19, won the swim suit competition and Miss Mikell, 22, was first in talent judging. A new Miss Wisconsin will be named tonight. Barbara Casper, Appleton, is in the competition. ## 'The Hungri 4' Neenah Combo Pulling for Miss Appleton at Contest

NEENAH — A Neenah musical School freshmen who have been playing and singing together for a year. They specialize in Wisconsin Pageant at Kenosha folk music.

Hours are spent in poring over songs, listening to records and to their own tapes of past shows and rehearsals. They hold 3 to 4 hour-long rehearsals 4 or 5 times a week.

The group is kept busy making appearances. In the last week they performed for the Masonic Shrine Club state dinner at the 41 Bowl at the annual Little Chute American Legion picnic, at the Appleton Lady Elks dinner and Friday and today at the Miss Wisconsin pageant.

They'll play at the Appleton Jaycee picnic next week and will make an appearance at the Neenah St. Paul Lutheran Church picnic Sunday and at the Neenah Fourth of July Venetian Pageant also.

During the school year, each boy still found time for other activities besides his music. All four were active in athletics and their names appeared frequently on the academic honor roll.

Rex was president of the freshman class, Rick and Dan also ran on the track team this spring and Ray played with the school orchestra.

Driver Dozes; Car Goes Into Ditch

Two men were injured about 3 p.m. Friday when the driver fell asleep at the wheel and the car went into the ditch on Brown County Trunk H at Hollandtown.

Leon R. Schnell, 21, Greenleaf and a passenger, Richard Wolfinger, 21 Dundas, had cuts and bruises on their faces. They were held overnight at the Kaukauna Hospital.

Schnell told Brown County police he had been fishing at Dykesville since 6 a.m. and became tired and fell asleep at the wheel.

Neenah Firemen Answer Two Calls

NEENAH — The Neenah Fire Department sent a truck to J. Stone and Son Co., 235 Main St., at 2:34 p. m. Friday when flames from a cutting torch ignited waste materials.

The department also extinguished a grass fire along the Chicago and North Western right-of-way south of Cecil Street late Friday afternoon.

Oshkosh-Appleton Among The 'Pairs' Included in North Central Survey

The Civil Aeronautics Board today is preparing an investigation of pairs and complexes of cities in Wisconsin in an effort to determine if each group of communities might better be served by a single airport.

Appleton-Oshkosh and Green Bay-Clintonville are among the cities to be probed, the CAB said.

All of the cities to come under the eye of the CAB are served by North Central Airlines.

In announcing the investigation, the board said it is concerned over the use of separate airports in cities sufficiently close together to be served through one airport.

The possibility of constructing a joint Outagamie-Winnebago County Airport was broached here about a year ago when a consultant hired by Outagamie recommended that such a plan would best serve the entire region. The present county port was ruled obsolete.

Turned Down

Headed by its Airport Committee, the Outagamie County Board approached the Winnebago supervisors on the possibility of a joint construction venture and was turned down.

Alvin Staffeld, chairman of the Winnebago County Board airport committee, said it was difficult to comment on the proposal at this time but he was not interested in promoting a new airport.

"All I'm interested in is getting a survey to find out where we are going," he said. "We need more assistance than we have on our committee or the county board."

Mark Catlin, Appleton, chairman of the Outagamie County Board airport committee, could not be reached for comment.

At its May meeting, the Outagamie County Board approved a $2.8 million bond issue for construction of a new, modern airport at a site in the Town of Greenville west of Appleton. Sale of the bonds is expected to be consummated some time in July and purchase of land for the new port will begin immediately.

The report from Washington this morning said the CAB will first try to determine to what extent each group of cities should be served through a single existing airport. The board is prepared to see if a new airport would be a sound solution to airline service problems, the report said.

Many Adjacent Points

North Central was selected because its routes "involve the greatest number of adjacent points which may be served through a single airport authorized to any individual local carrier," the CAB said.

In addition to Appleton-Oshkosh and Green Bay-Clintonville, the other cities involved are: Land O'Lakes-Rhineland, Marshfield-Wausau, Marshfield - Wisconsin Rapids - Stevens Point and Wausau-Wisconsin Rapids - Stevens Point; Ashland, Wis. - Ironwood, Mich.; and LaCrosse, Wis. - Winona, Minn.

Man Jailed for Drunk Driving

Chicago Resident Also Sentenced for Not Having License

Joseph N. Burg, 38, Chicago, pleaded guilty of drunken driving Friday when he appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen at the Waupaca City Hall.

Burg pleaded innocent of the charge Thursday but changed his plea Friday.

He pleaded guilty Thursday of driving without a driver's license and was fined $50 or 30 days. He was committed to the county jail when he was unable to pay the fine.

Sentences Run Concurrently

Burg was fined $100 and costs Friday on the drunken driving charge, but was unable to pay the fine and was committed to jail for 30 days. Municipal Justice Whalen said the two sentences are to run concurrently.

Charge Dismissed

An officer of attempting to bribe an officer against Burg was dismissed Friday on a motion by Edwin R. Macklin, acting district attorney. He was ordered held for County Court on the charge before it was dismissed.

All three of the charges resulted from an incident Wednesday night in Fremont. Burg said a tire blew out and he drove his car back to Fremont on the rim of the wheel. He was arrested by Sgt. Loran Frazier, county highway patrol, who also filed the attempted bribery charge.

Long Record

Sheriff Ray Abrahamson, who appeared in court with Burg Friday, told the court that Burg "has a record so long that the Minnesota police did not want to tie up the radio that long in relaying it to Waupaca."

Burg was driving a car registered to him in Minnesota. He said he was going to Chicago where he had a job offer.

Kimberly School Board Will Discuss Budget

KIMBERLY — The 1962-63 budget for School District 6 will be discussed by the Kimberly school board 7 p.m. Thursday in the teachers' lounge of the Kimberly High School.

The budget will be okayed at the annual meeting July 23.

UCS to Plan County Health Department

New Committee Will Present Completed Plans to County Board

The League presented findings from its health study and what it felt are the needs of the county at the organizational meeting. The League has been presenting a panel as a county health department to organizations throughout the county.

The committee will draw up plans on the structure, salary scales, services to be offered and financing of a county health department. The next meeting will be the week of July 23.

The Outagamie County Health Council, a citizen's group, was absorbed into UCS last year. This committee is an outgrowth of that group.

Shawano's Needy Will Get Surplus Food on Monday

Distribution Dates Not Yet Set

For Waupaca, Waushara Counties

NEW LONDON — The first supply of surplus food commodities being handled by Theodore Thomas, as, was trucked into the warehouse at the former Verifine factory building today.

Thomas is in charge of the surplus food distribution for Waushara, Waupaca and Shawano counties.

The people who are eligible for free foods are people who are now on public assistance, people on general relief and low income families. The people who are on relief and in the low income group must apply for food surplus through their local relief director or at the county welfare department office. The people receiving other forms of public assistance do not have to fill out the application forms.

Thomas said that distribution will begin in Shawano County. Food will be distributed at the county sheds.

The food for Waupaca County is expected to be delivered July 10. Distribution dates will be given later. Distribution dates for Waushara County have not been set.

He said that he expects to receive 60,000 to 70,000 pounds of surplus food per month to start.

The food includes butter, cheese, lard, dried beans, rolled oats, rolled wheat, chopped meat, peanut butter, cornmeal, flour, powdered milk and rice.

In food dollars, the amount of food to be distributed to each family is between $5 to $5.50 per person a month. A list of recipes will be distributed with the food.

Senate Candidate In Appleton to Circulate Papers

A former school teacher who was defeated in an election to state superintendent of schools 1½ years ago was in Appleton Friday seeking signers for his petition to run for the U. S. Senate.

Arlin F. Wollenberg, 41, Rosendale, Fond du Lac County said he is an unendorsed Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Alexander Wiley. Wollenberg said he intends to run an "old fashioned, penniless" campaign throughout Wisconsin.

Wollenberg is the author of a controversial book, "Sumida," which criticized Washington politics. He is a former school teacher in Wrightstown, Random Lake and Whitehall.

A veteran of World War II, Wollenberg said he has not been employed since the school superintendent election and is drawing a government pension.

Two Hurt in 1-Car Crash

Auto Travels 648 Feet After Leaving Highway

Two persons were injured in a one-car accident in the town of Harrison early Saturday when their car went through a fence, struck a power pole and rolled 95 feet.

Noel Holinbeck, 18, 1300 E. Amelia St., driver of the car and David Dorin, 19, 308 E. Spring St., were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance.

Holinbeck told police he was going north on County M at 1:20 a.m. today when he met another car in the middle of the road at M and U.S. 10. He said he went into the ditch trying to avoid the car, went through a fence, hit and broke a power pole, and went into the field, where the car rolled over several times.

County patrolman, Irvin M. Vice, who investigated the accident, said tracks indicated Holinbeck's car went into the ditch, 96 feet beyond the intersection and traveled in the ditch, clipping the fence for 396 feet before going through it. Vice said the auto traveled 159 feet in the field after striking the power pole, and then rolled for 93 feet. The car traveled a total of 648 feet after leaving the highway.

Both youths were thrown from the car. Holinbeck suffered a laceration over his eye, and an injured back. Dorin suffered a torn thumb and lacerated right hand and lacerations on his face.

Menasha Student to Be Business Manager Of College Choir

MENASHA — Lorayne Doverspike, an engineering major at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., has been named business manager of the college concert choir for the 1962-63 school year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Doverspike, 612 Nicolet Blvd., he is a bass-baritone, a member of the band and homecoming chairman for the next school year.

He is a 1961 graduate of Menasha High School where he also was in the choir and band and served as head drum major with the high school band.

Coin Containers Taken in Waupaca

WAUPACA — Two coin containers were taken and three soft-drink vending machines were damaged between 11 p.m. Friday and 4 a.m. today. Chief of Police Fred Rasmussen said this morning.

The coin containers were taken from the pop machines at Bob's Standard Station, W. Fulton Street and Moses' Standard Station, Badger Street. The pop machine at Dans Spur Station was damaged, but the coin box was not taken.

Chief Rasmussen said the thefts were discovered by the night policeman about 4 a.m. today.

Flood of Slugs Found in Machines

A flood of nickel-sized slugs is cutting down profits for an Appleton vending firm. Zaig's Vending Service, 4100 W. Wisconsin Ave., told Appleton police that their machines had been receiving several hundred of the slugs each week. The slugs also have been reported in several Appleton coin-operated laundries.

The slugs are the exact size of a nickel and weigh the same, police said. They are commercially made and say "No Cash Value" and "Good for Amusement Only" on the sides.

Collapses at Work

An Elm Tree Bakery employee collapsed at work at 11:15 p.m. Friday and was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's Ambulance. Kenneth Runge, 21, cause of route 1. Cecil, was reported in good condition this morning. He is being held for observation.

Postal Employee Receives Award For Suggestion

Clyde Hansen, a long-time employee of the Appleton Post Office, has received a cash award of $110 for a suggestion which saved the post office 700 hours during its first year of use.

Hansen developed a special case scheme for sorting the large volume of insurance premium notices mailed by Aid Association for Lutherans. The case increased efficiency in handling of these mailings.

Hansen was a postal clerk at the time he made the suggestion. He recently was promoted to vehicle operations maintenance clerk. He has 32½ years of service.

Suspend Park Program Because of Holiday

MENASHA — The Menasha Recreation Department's playground program will be suspended next week because of the July 4 holiday.

It will resume July 9. First all-city event after the interruption will be the July 11 talent show and ice cream social at Sixth Street Park.

come even more rapid, since the general realizes most voters are simply too overwhelmed at the size and the destructive power of military might to make constructive comments.

Yet Eisenhower is known to feel that if this nation is to continue to be great it will only be if the general public takes a critical look at everything every president does in his planning and in his peacetime—he thinks that Kennedy is surrounded by men who find merit in spending more money than the government takes in, join in support of the chief executive, the only spokesman this nation has in international affairs.

Ike Anxious Over Federal Spenders

Ex-President Believes Crises Now A Way of Life, No Reason for Panic

By ARTHUR EDSON

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower firmly believes that President Kennedy is in the clutches of "the big spenders"—and that this is best illustrated in the administration's military spending plans.

Eisenhower is disturbed that military requests have gone up around $8 billion since he left office. It's his belief that nothing has happened that is so ominous to justify such an increase.

The former president won't go into details and spell out where the $48.3 billion military budget presented by Kennedy can be cut.

No Further Comment

And he has made no public comment beyond the speech of a week ago that took even members of his Republican party by surprise.

Speaking at a $100-a-plate GOP dinner in Washington, Eisenhower said: "I must record my personal belief that substantial amounts in our current defense budgets reflect unjustified fears, plus a reluctance in some quarters to relinquish outmoded concepts."

"Accordingly, I personally believe—with, I am sure, very little company in either party—that the defense budget should be substantially reduced."

Crises A Way of Life

Although Eisenhower refuses to go beyond this public statement, it is known that he feels that international crises have unfortunately become a way of life, that there is no reason to panic when a new one arises, and that the United States should set a course and stick steadfastly to it regardless of what the Communists may do.

Military requests, Eisenhower thinks, have a habit of creeping up steadily.

Indeed, this occurred in his own administration, when the military budget rose from $35.5 billion in 1957 to $41 billion in 1961. But he thinks this increase came largely because of the switch to costly missiles while still trying to keep other defenses ship-shape.

Army Too Large

Although Eisenhower won't go into details on where military spending could be cut—he no longer has access to the information on which the requests are based—he believes the Army ground forces are too large.

He believes this is chiefly because Army leaders, jealous of route 1. Cecil, was reported in good condition this morning. He is being held for observation.

pushing for more men, instead of being happy at getting by for less. Eisenhower doesn't see any spending the increase may be need for Kennedy to call up the Reserves, although he thinks sending troops into Berlin may have had some morale building value in Western Germany.

Although no one is more aware of Eisenhower how difficult it is to balance a federal budget—one of his own budgets wound up with a $12-billion deficit, the largest in peacetime—he thinks that Kennedy is surrounded by men who find merit in spending more money than the government takes in, join in support of the chief executive, the only spokesman this nation has in international affairs.

Two Attending Science Course

Kimberly, Kaukauna Students Working at UW Summer Session

KAUKAUNA — Two students, one from Kimberly high school and one from Kaukauna high school, are attending a junior summer session at the University of Wisconsin under a special state scholarship.

John Whitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Whitman, 704 Blackwell St., Kaukauna, and Harold Wentzel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wentzel Sr., 140 S. Main St., Kimberly, began study June 18.

The study grants were awarded to 44 students out of approximately 230 applicants throughout the state.

From 8 a.m. to noon, pupils attend various science lectures and meetings. From 1 to 3:30 p.m., they work on specially assigned projects. Whitman is working under a graduate student in biochemistry. Wentzel has been assigned to an electronic project.

The University has planned recreational activities for the boys and girls in their spare time. The students board at the campus dormitories.

The session closes July 27.

Jingo Thinks This May Be Year for Winner

Feels Miss Appleton Has Good Chance for Miss Wisconsin Title

BY JINGO

Today is the big day for all of the pretty, talented young ladies representing hometowns throughout the state. After this evening Wisconsin will have another official Miss and the rest of the nation's official Misses will have to look to their laurels. Jingo has a feeling this is our year!

Jingo

Appleton will be well represented in the pageant today in Kenosha. Not only have the local Jaycees pinned their hopes on Barbara Casper, but this week she was named to symbolize the United States Power Squadron.

She should be reckoned with this evening. She fits the appearance specifications well. She has a fine personality and she is exceptionally talented. Appleton can be proud to have Miss Casper to represent it.

However, there is some fear that should Miss Appleton become Miss Wisconsin and an odds-on favorite for Miss America this fall the Fox Cities may be deprived of seeing her on the Attic Theater stage later this summer.

She is scheduled to appear in the community troupe's "Picnic" production. After enjoying her skill as an actress last season in the Attic production of "Petrified Forest," missing her this season would be sad to contemplate.

Frank Sinatra, roaming the world spreading good cheer and exuding good feelings, is busy changing the image recent years have constructed for him. The Ring-a-ding-a-ding boy at 47 has been in the public eye since he was 17 and little of the magic has rubbed off as far as adulation can testify. So great has this adulation been that bad manners and worse made very little difference. Now Cosmopolitan magazine is explaining Frank's change. It's all wrapped up in the fact that the Skinnies One is the master of an entertainment business empire worth $25 million.

It includes, in part, Essex Productions (in motion pictures); Reprise Records (for whom such stars as Ethel Merman work); four music publishing companies; a part interest, with Danny Kaye, in four radio stations; a gambling resort on Lake Tahoe, and stock in Las Vegas' fabulous Sands Hotel.

Major Bowes, who gave Frank his start, used to say, "The wheel of fortune spins. Where it stops, nobody knows." Now we know.

In the same issue of the venerable, national magazine, there's an examination of the "boob tube." Boo-Boos sent into the electronic cyclus in your living room are recalled: e.g., the time Adolf Menjou sampled too copiously of his brewer sponsor's product during a commercial and added refreshing effervescence to the slot.

Although it isn't necessary, here's proof of how small the world has become. Bob Horton, late of Wagon Train, has moved to Capri because, "Capri is four hours from Rome and Rome is 10 hours from anywhere that I may be needed for a movie."

TV Follows Kennedys To Mexico

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 (Channel 11)—ABC News Special will be following President and Mrs. Kennedy on their three-day state visit to Mexico. Coverage of this event will be shown in this time period today and tomorrow.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—Perry Mason's repeat, "The Case of the Credulous Quarry," was old when it was first shown, in September, 1960. Basically, it is a good example of Mason's adventures. The moral is never borrow money—especially when the lender demands, in lieu of interest, your help in hiding a dead body.

7:30-8 (Channel 11)—Leave It to Beaver, still hammering away at the same old theme, has yet another twist on the general idea of finding humor in a boy's growing pains. This time, it's Wally (Tony Dow) who is the center of things. The other three Cleavers are excitedly preparing for a vacation trip—fishing, and all that—but Wally doesn't want to go. It seems there's a girl (Brenda Scott) in the library and, well, you know how it is.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2)—A fine performance by Edwards Bins gives The Defenders another winner in tonight's repeat. Bins plays a man who has just been released from a mental institution after 25 years of treatment. He had broken down after being sentenced to die for a holdup killing. The sentence still stands and it's up to E. G. Marshall & Son to find a loophole.

8-10 (Channel 4-5)—A 1951 romantic comedy, "People Will Talk," is the repeat offering on tonight's Saturday Night at the Movies. It stars Cary Grant and Jeanne Crain, with Hume Cronyn, Walter Slezak and Finlay Currie in support.

8:30-9 (Channel 2)—Have Gun, Will Travel concludes its two-part repeat, begun last week. Paladin (Richard Boone) is still involved in attempting to keep a murder suspect alive against the objections of the lynch-happy mob of villains.

The Buffalo Bills, popular barbershoppers who have appeared in Appleton several times, do a little harmonizing in a scene from "The Music Man," scheduled to open at the Appleton theater on Aug. 1. The interested party on the left is Robert Preston.

Musical Star Credits TV For Her Acting

NEW YORK (AP)—Carol Lawrence, who became a singing and dancing star on Broadway, says that television turned her into an actress.

"Nowadays in show business, television exposure is absolutely essential," remarked the pretty dark-haired performer. "It can be death if you don't get it. It helps so much."

In Demand

Carol, particularly after her smash success in Broadway's "West Side Story," was in great demand for the popular television variety shows—where she had a chance to act in sketches with the stars.

"And if I had not had a chance with Garry Moore, Perry Como and the others, the producers would never have given me a chance to do a straight acting role in 'The Dybbuk.'"

Meaty Roles

"The Dybbuk," one of a high-level, syndicated series called "Play of the Week" led directly to meaty acting parts in motion pictures—"The View from the Bridge."

Now, Miss Lawrence is a triple-threat performer.

Elkins and Odets are meanwhile considering a number of composers and lyricists to handle that phase of the project. "Golden Boy" was first presented in 1937 with a cast including Luther Adler, Lee J. Cobb and Frances Farmer.

This time, Sammy Davis Jr.,

will star.

Pioneer Playhouse to Test Ten New Scripts

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Ten scripts by new playwrights are being tested this summer at the Pioneer Playhouse.

The program continues an experiment launched last summer by manager Eben Henson in cooperation with several New York theatrical agents.

The showcasing gives the authors, who are all established in film, television or magazine work, a chance to see how their dramatic ideas play on a stage before an audience.

Bus Ride Brings Job

NEW YORK (AP)—A bus ride led Jonathan Taylor to an unexpected theater job.

The actor was discussing summer work prospects with a friend, when he was overheard by Tom Jones, author of the long-running musical "The Fantasticks." Before he got off, Jones introduced himself and suggested Taylor test for an upcoming role replacement. He tried out two days later and got the assignment.

Will Market Hit Rock Bottom Soon? Experts Can Only Hope, Guess

One Month After 'Black Monday' Stocks Still Go Steadily Down

EDITORS NOTE—A month ago today, the stock market suffered its worst daily loss since 1929. Since then analysts and economists, for business and government, have been trying to piece together the story of the decline—and to forecast what is in store.

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — A month after being stricken on "Black Monday" the stock market still is ailing. No one can say for sure what is going to happen in the future.

The panicky selling of May 28 sent the market to its worst fall since 1929. Before the week was out a rally more than recovered the loss but the pattern of steep decline had been set.

This downturn has been followed, with only a few interruptions by weak advances, ever since.

Is the market about to hit bottom?

That is the big question that has Wall Street hoping and guessing.

No One Knows

The analysts whose predictions are closely followed by millions of investors are in disagreement. Some say the market still has to go lower to truly correct prices which had skyrocketed during a frenzy of speculation.

Others feel that earnings compared with share prices have returned to realistic ratios and that many stocks are becoming bargains.

Still others are pinning their hopes for an upturn of the calendar, forecasting that the traditional summer rally will soon lift prices.

"Among the older, more sophisticated analysts the consensus is that the worst is over for the present, there should be a summer rally and any decline following this rally probably would be less violent than the one that preceded it," says L. O. Hooper of the brokerage firm, W. E. Hutton & Co.

But expressing just the opposite point of view, and exemplifying the many opinions to be found in Wall Street, is analyst Edward F. Underwood of Ira Haupt & Co., who says:

"There is little question in my mind that this is a time of crisis. We are in a major bear (down) market."

No Conclusive Person

What brought on this decline which has pressed the market averages to their lowest level since 1929?

The reasons cited are legion, and no single one conclusive in itself.

The early phase, beginning last fall, was attributed by some experts to a need for correction of prices that had rocketed too high under a great enthusiasm for growth stocks and new issues.

Others described a market weakened by what they called the tendency of big institutional buyers—the mutual funds and pension funds among others—to sit on the sidelines. Still others pointed to the millions of dollars pulled out of the market by investors who put them in savings banks to reap higher interest rates.

Kennedy's Reaction

As business failed to move ahead at the rate expected, "lack of confidence" and a fear of a recession developed among some investors.

Then came the Kennedy administration's furious reaction to the $6-a-ton price increase announced by the steel industry after what had been described by government officials as a noninflationary labor agreement.

The steel price battle was blamed by many in Wall Street for actually triggering the market collapse. This school of thought said the steel battle undermined the confidence of already shaky investors.

Washington's Cures

With recession talk increasing, the financial community looked to Washington for help.

This could take the form of an income tax reduction, as proposed by Kennedy; an increase in depreciation allowances for new plant and equipment, and a cut in margin requirements to allow stock to be bought for 50 per cent cash down payment instead of the current 70 per cent.

"Just a handful of deeds by the administration would be extremely helpful—actions that would pep up the economy, encourage businessmen and turn investor psy-

Sponsor Fourth Annual Rodeo

A touch of the old West can be found right here in Wisconsin at the fourth annual Mid-Western World Championship Rodeo this afternoon, evening and Sunday afternoon at the Manawa arena.

Sponsored by the Manawa Lions Club, the rodeo is approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, of Denver as world championship cowboys competition with five events: bareback wild horse riding, brahma calf roping, saddle bronc riding, longhorn steer wrestling and will bull riding.

The appearance of the world's only trained buffalo, a rodeo clown and bull fighter and a dancing Palomina, as well as a cowgirls barrel race and a rodeo queen contest, are some of the specialties at each performance.

An extra the youngsters will enjoy: a live pony will be given away at each show.

Grand Jury Indicts Edward M. Gilbert For Misusing Funds

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted Edward M. Gilbert, 39, on charges of misappropriating $1,953,000.

The 15-count indictment also accuses him of using the mails and wires for fraudulent purposes while he was president of the E. L. Bruce Co., the nation's largest hardwood flooring manufacturer.

The top penalty upon conviction on all counts is prescribed by law as 74 years in prison and fines totaling $82,000.

Gilbert is in Brazil, which has no extradition treaty with the United States.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Peter M. Morrison obtained a bench warrant for Gilbert's arrest from U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas F. Murphy a short time after the indictment was handed up Thursday.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Gilbert is the sole defendant in the case which led to the indictment.

Recession Talk Quite Common On Wall Street

Administration Men 'Pooh-Poohing' Any Big Business Slump

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—In Wall Street they are talking openly about a recession as if it were a sure thing just around the corner. In Washington administration spokesmen are pooh-poohing any such visitation this year at least. But they are asking for new measures to forestall or cushion a business slump, just in case.

Yet most businessmen still are saying that even if the general economic picture is clouded the outlook for their own firms hasn't changed much nor has their planning.

And current statistics still show more plus than minus signs, although many regarded as fore-runners of business changes are pointing down.

Recession Talk

The reasons recession talk is so common as the second half of 1962 starts:

1. The sharp stock market break starts: The market as a crystal ball, dominated by traders with inside information.

2. Business in general improved the first half of the year but at a disappointing rate and the slow-down could be the topping out of a brief recovery from the last slump.

3. The government-steel clash and lower prices makes many fear that business is in for a rough time from government and that profit prospects have dimmed.

Deflation Next?

4. The long postwar inflation has slowed to a crawl—is deflation next?

Business planning isn't being helped any by the fact this is an election year. Industry in general, and many individual firms, will be affected by what Congress will do about taxes, spending, international trade, and a multitude of existing or suggested controls. So will consumers. And so will many workers, employed or seeking jobs.

Many economists think that the momentum of the business recovery, even if not impressive, guarantees generally good times for the rest of this year.

The plus factors for the rest of this year: Construction at a new high and well ahead of last year; auto sales promising the industry's second best year; consumer spending at a peak—with any sizable effect from the stock market break yet to show; industrial production rising—although the usual summer letdown is just ahead; record personal savings on which consumers can draw.

Downward Point

The indicators pointing down: A drop in new orders for capital goods that industry buys; corporate profits better than a year ago but lower than in the final months of 1961; basic steel in a production slump; order backlogs in many industries declining; and the six-month drop in stock prices with sharp breaks in recent weeks.

Those are the signs cited by those who see a recession near at hand.

Those who think any serious slump is many months away see the rest of the year as a good one for business—because of the momentum of the recovery, because of the stimulants of government spending and the psychology of a promised tax cut.
